

WALL STREET STOCKS WEAK; COTTON AND WHEAT PRICES OFF SHARPLY

Grain Tumbles 7-8 Cents a Bushel to Season's Low on the Chicago Board of Trade.

FALL OF $2 A BALE IN COTTON MARKET

Active Securities Drop 1 to 10 Points on a Moderate Volume of Trade With Close Near Low of Day.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Pronounced reactionary tendencies developed in all of the leading speculative markets today. Wheat and cotton futures broke to new low levels for the season in unusually heavy liquidating movements, while prices of active stocks dropped 1 to 10 points, on a moderate volume of trading. A brisk rally in stocks started in mid-afternoon, but quickly played out, with final quotations generally around the low levels of the day.

The break in wheat and cotton was held primarily responsible for the weakness of stocks, although the marking up of the call money rate from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent, uncer-tainities over tariff legislation, President Hoover's warning against excessive Government expenditures and disappointment over the slow recovery in some lines of trade were all mentioned as contributing factors.

The rise in call money followed rather heavy calling of loans, which was believed to be due to the fact that many banks had over loaned on Friday in order to take advantage of the three day week-end interest period. The time money market also was firmer, the 20 to 60 day maturities being quoted at 4 1/2 to 4 3/4 per cent, as against a flat 4 1/4 per cent rate last week. The banks and acceptance market was firm.

Collapse in Grain Prices.
Grain prices collapsed at Chicago in a market almost demoralized by selling orders. Rock bottom for the season was reached by all grains, with an extreme loss of 7 1/2 cents in wheat at one time.
The final level was only fraction-ally above the low point, May being $1.08 1/2 @ 3/4. The domestic markets were making up for the time lost during Saturday's holiday, while world markets were declining.

Falling within three cents of $1.00 March, wheat was traded 15 cents a bushel cheaper than the lean price established by the Federal Farm Board for the equivalent country run cash wheat. The violent downturn at the opening touched off volumes of stop-loss selling orders. Today's bargain prices were the lowest recorded at this time of year for 15 years.
At Kansas City May wheat reached $1 a bushel.

The bearish sentiment that has been provoked for a week by the overloaded world granaries, with a tremendous visible supply in this country competing for foreign markets against cheaper offerings from South America and Europe, apparently had reached a peak today.
Cotton futures tumbled nearly 2 1/2
a bale to new low prices for the season on the Cotton Exchange, as selling swept into the market in the largest volume experienced in several months. The selling was attributed to weakness of the Livingston and Bombay markets and to the renewed break in the wheat market.

U. S. Steel Down 3 1/2 Points.
United States Steel common stock 3 1/2 points lower at 17 3/4, or 3 1/2 above the day's low. American, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, American Foreign, International Union Gas, General Theatrical Equipment, National Lead, Sawyer Stores and Vulcan Detin-ing, all closed 3 to 4 points lower.
U. S. Steel common stock 5 points,
1 C. & G. 3 1/2, Pacific Telephone and Telegraph 1 1/2, and New York & Harlem 1 1/2.
Canadian Pacific lost 3 1/2 points, with selling presumably inspired by President Beatty's prediction that gross earnings for the first quarter would fall between 15 and 17 per cent below those of the

FLIES UPSIDE DOWN BACKWARD, SETTING NEW AIR RECORD

Aviator Throttles Engine to Stalling Speed and Allows Plane to Drift With Wind.

By the Associated Press.
ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Feb.
24.—Martin Jensen, holder of the world's record for solo endurance flying, yesterday created a new stunt by flying backward, upside down, for about a mile.

The aviator was using the first plane turned out by his factory at Lehigh, Pa. A biplane of 100 horsepower, which he said was constructed on a principle that would keep the center of gravity stationary in the wings regardless of the position of the ship.
After putting his plane through series of loops and rolls, Jensen flew it upside down and flew in this position for about a mile with a 40-mile wind at his tail. Righting the plane, he headed it into the wind, turned it upside down again and then throttled his engine down to stalling speed—30 miles an hour.
The 40-mile wind carried him backward at the rate of about 10 miles an hour.

HOOVER MOUNTAIN SCHOOL OPENS WITH 20 STUDENTS

Boy Who Interested President in Project Is Too Excited To Eat.

By the Associated Press.
DARK HOLLOW, Va., Feb. 24.
—Ray Burraker, the barefoot mountain boy who first interested President Hoover in the children in this mountain community, got up at 5 o'clock this morning to be the first to arrive for the opening of the Hoover school. He was so excited that he forgot to eat breakfast.

Mr. Hoover decided to have the school established after he became interested in the children here as a result of young Burraker's strolling into his fishing camp near here
one day last summer and presenting an opossum to the President.
Besides Burraker, about 20 pupils arrived for the opening of the school, the first in this neighborhood. From the top of the little frame building, perched on the side of a steep mountain, an American flag fluttered. It had been raised at sun-up by Burraker. His 9-year-old brother, George Harold Burraker, will have the honor of lowering the flag at sunset.

SNOWDROPS AND SOFT MAPLES BLOOMING IN CITY AND COUNTY

Grass Makes Distinct Growth
During Week-End in Response to Springlike Weather.

Snowdrops and soft maple trees are blooming in St. Louis and the County and grass, which has been green all winter under the snow blanket, made a distinct growth over the week-end, in response to the current springlike weather.

The frog chorus was resumed in the Meramec Valley and the suburban Saturday night, the earliest that the hylas or tree frogs have come out of winter quarters for years. Honey suckle was reported in bloom, but fragrant honeysuckle has been known to remain in bloom at Shaw's Garden through the winter.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.— Charles Evans Hughes became Chief Justice of the United States today, taking the oath of office at 12:06 p. m. Only a short and simple ceremony in the historic old chambers of the highest court attended his induction into office.

He took the preliminary oath of allegiance to the Constitution in the Court room shortly before noon, with only members of the Court present. Then, as the black-robed Justices assembled on the bench for the beginning of a new term, he stood at the clerk's desk in a crowded Court chamber and recited the pledge to sit in judgment impartially, and "do equal rights to the poor and the rich."

Hughes put on the official long black robes of the Court before the first oath was administered in the robing room directly under the dome of the Capitol building. Justice Holmes, the ranking Justice, who will be 89 next month, officiated while the other members of the Court formed a circle about him. This was the oath:

"I, Charles Evans Hughes, do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same, that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion,
and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter, so help me God."

No Bible was used in any phase of the induction into office.
Applauded in Corridor.
Immediately the pledge had been pronounced, the Justices filed out across the public corridor to the courtroom, with Hughes last.
A crowd of sightseers gave him a round of applause as he crossed the corridor.
When the Court had taken their seats, Justice Holmes, in a voice showing deep emotion, said it was his duty to announce, with great grief, that Chief Justice Taft had been compelled to resign. He added that the Court was happy to know that an old associate would sit in his place.

The highest tribunal interrupted its routine for just six minutes to mark the transition from the tenth to the eleventh Chief Justice of the United States.

Hughes took Taft's vacant place with firm step, the picture of health and vigor despite his 89 years. His voice filled the small chamber with full, deep tones as he pronounced the words of his obligation. His hair and beard, as usual, were white. He bowed to most back when he left the bench 14 years ago to become his party's candidate for the presidency, were nearly white today, when he returned, and his countenance seemed to have lost much of the austerity of earlier years. But his broad shoulders still had the carriage of youth, and his manner the quickness and spontaneity of many who are his juniors.

Chief Justice Hughes was confused to this extent. He bowed his hands with Justice Holmes on his right, and bowed to the Justices on that side of the bench. He then turned to his left, shook hands with Justice Van Devanter, and bowed to the others. Then he bowed to the bar and spectators.
The entire company was seated,
and the Court proceeded to the announcement of opinions.

Text of Judicial Oath.
The text of the judicial oath follows:
"I do solemnly swear that I will administer justice without respect to persons, and do equal rights to the poor and to the rich, and that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent on me as Chief Justice of the United States according to the best of my ability and understanding, agreeably to the Constitution and laws of the United States; that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same;
that I take this obligation freely without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter, so help me God."

The new Chief Justice will decline to take part in an important and controversial case on March 13. This is the case of the Great Lakes States to stop the diversion of water from Lake Michigan by the Chicago Sanitary District.
Hughes acted as special master in the case, and the action of the Court will be on a report that he made, to which both sides have filed exceptions.

HOW VALUATION SYSTEM BOOSTS UTILITY PROFITS

Federal Trade Commission
Economist Uses American Gas & Electric Co., as Example.

BOOKS SHOW ONLY REPRODUCTION COST

By This Means Charges Are Increased and Yet Only a Nominal Return Shown
by Power Firm.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Judson C. Dickerman, Federal Trade Commission economist, testified today that the utilities companies owned by the American Gas & Electric Co. carry on their books valuations based on the cost of reproduction and added that the rates charged to the public are based on this value instead of the cost of the plants.

Dickerman, testifying at the opening session of the hearing into public utilities financing, said that earnings which appeared reasonable on the books of the power companies actually were very high, compared with the cost of construction.
He asserted this resulted in excessively high returns on the original common stock of the subsidiaries, all of which is held by the American Gas & Electric Co. At the same time greatly increased issues of securities, he said, have been marketed on the showing of the books. These securities, he added, are sold to the public and yield only nominal earnings.

This process of "writing up" the value of the operating companies, he said, took place at the time the company's assets were merged and absorbed into the American company.
The witness told the Commission that all voting stock of the subsidiaries was owned or controlled by the Management Corporation, that all financial accounts were supervised closely by the New York office of the American company and that even materials were purchased in New York for the entire group.

A large staff of experts in every branch of the power business, he said, was maintained to supervise the subsidiaries, and one vice president of the American company and Michigan Electric Co., and the Indiana General Service Co., operating in Central Indiana.

Touching briefly on the capitalization of the members of unified group, Dickerman testified that their interests would be forfeited, and he would be rendered
a fugitive. On the understanding that Toombs would appear tomorrow, the cases set for today
were passed on the docket.

Circuit Attorney Miller repeated his former announcement that Toombs would be prosecuted on at least one of the pending charges.
He considers that three years imprisonment and a $3,000 fine, on the one conviction, is too light. In order to bring Toombs to St. Louis for trial, his imprisonment would be too light.

QUEEN OF SWEDEN SINKING, DEATH THOUGHT TO BE NEAR

Oxygen Administered for Several Days, Together With Camphor and Caffeine Injections.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Feb. 24.—The Queen of Sweden, who has been seriously ill
here, today is so low that her life is despaired of.
It was said that Queen Victoria, who for many years has suffered from pulmonary trouble, appeared on the point of death, although it was possible that she might survive for several weeks.

The Queen has been having oxygen administered and camphor and caffeine injected for several days past.
Her second son, Prince Wilhelm,
Duke of Södermanland, arrived here today. King Gustave has been here for some time. Members of the Italian royal family are being informed hourly of the Queen's condition.

Taft's Condition Unchanged.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Physicians attending former Chief Justice Taft reported today his condition was virtually the same. The bulletin, signed by Dr. Thomas A.
Clayton and Dr. Francis H. Bagner and issued through the White House, read: "The former Chief Justice had a comfortable night.
There is no material change in his
condition."

TOOMBS TO START 3-YEAR-TERM FOR FRAUD TOMORROW

Supreme Court Marshal Ordered to Take Head of Defunct Insurance Company Into Custody.

PLEA FOR REHEARING EN BANC IS FILED

If Granted, Commitment Would Be Stayed—Lawyer Promises Defendant
Will Be in Court Tomorrow.

Roy C. Toombs, president of the defunct International Life Insurance Co., will be taken to the Missouri Penitentiary tomorrow, to begin serving a three-year term.
He was convicted of fraudulently
over-issuing the insurance company's stock, as part of the scheme by which he took $3,500,000 of the company's assets, throwing it into bankruptcy.

Four cases, pending against Toombs, and growing out of his manipulation of the company's resources were set for trial in the Circuit Court for Criminal Cases.
Two of these cases are on charges of embezzlement, and two are similar to the one on which he was convicted, for procuring the over-issuance of stock.

Before the time for opening Court, Marshal Schult of the Supreme Court appeared at the Circuit Attorney's office, with a mandate directing him to take Toombs into custody. This followed the recent refusal of Division No. 2 of the court to grant
a rehearing of Toombs' appeal.

Toombs' local counsel, Patrick H. Cullen, who has come into the case since the conviction, filed a motion with the Supreme Court today for a rehearing by the court en banc. This, it granted, would stay his commitment to the penitentiary.

Attorney, appearing at the Circuit Attorney's office, promised that Toombs would be in court tomorrow, ready to surrender to the Marshal and go to Jefferson City.
If he should fail to appear, as promised, his bond would be forfeited, and he would be rendered
a fugitive. On the understanding
that Toombs would appear tomorrow, the cases set for today
were passed on the docket.

and E. C. Smith, both of Great crashed in a field 11 miles west of Stanford, Mont., yesterday. In-

RADIO FANS RID OF TROLLEYS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BEACON, N. Y., Feb. 24.—
Radio fans of Flushing and Glen-ham, suburbs, are elated by an agreement between village officials of Flushing and the Flushing Electric Railway to abandon electric cars, which interfered with radio reception. Buses are to be substituted.

The village trustees demanded, as part of the agreement, that the trolley tracks, poles and wires be removed. Radio experts have maintained that electricity of the trolley system has disturbed radio reception in the communities, which are at the foot of Mount Beacon, on which the broadcasting station WOKO is situated. The State Public Service Commission has been asked to allow the switch to buses.

CAPITALIST AND DOCTOR KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

They Were on Way to Bedside of Former's Wife in Florida.

By the Associated Press.
SMYRNA, Ga., Feb. 24.—George Terrell Patten, 25 years old, capitalist of Chattanooga, Tenn., was killed and his family physician, Dr.
Lyle D. West, injured fatally here today in the crash of an airplane which was taking them to the bedside of Mrs. Patten in Florida. Dr.
West died in a hospital at Marietta
several hours after the wreck.
Jersey Ringie, the pilot, also was injured.

The plane, a three-passenger cabin type, left Chattanooga this morning for Florida. Mrs. Patten was injured in an automobile wreck near Clearwater last night and as the plane passed over Marietta, 20 miles north of Atlanta, persons noticed that it was flying low. When one-half mile east of Smyrna airport the plane crashed to the ground, turning over on top of its passengers.

Two initials composed the signature. Police withheld them from publication, pending investigation.
They believe the initials were the work of a crank.
The Coolidges are visiting in Southern California as tourists.

Wife of President Vazquez Seeks Refuge at U. S. Legation During Political Disturbance.

By the Associated Press.
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Feb. 24.—President Hor-acio Vazquez today took charge of the armed forces in the Santo Domingo fortress in consequence of political disturbances, while Madame Vazquez took refuge at the American legation.

Other points from which disturbances were reported were Puerto Plata and La Vega, both of which are in the north of the island, Puerto Plata being a seaport.

Rumors that a delicate situation existed in the Republic were current in Haiti last December. At that time it was said three Cabinet members and several other officials had conferred respecting the possibility of Haitian troubles spreading across the border. At that time President Vazquez was in the United States undergoing medical treatment.

The Dominican Republic occupies the eastern and larger part of the island of Haiti and has a population of approximately 800,000, mainly composed of a mixed race
of European, African and Indian

GO-BETWEEN DESCRIBES RELEASE OF PERSHALL

G. O. Blockburger Arrested
With Herman Tipton, Cuckoo Gangster, Admits
Handing Money to Man
He Can't Identify.

SAYS HE GOT PHONE DEMAND FOR $50,000

Conveyed This Information to Family Who Raised the Cash, Declares Granite City Man—Suspected
When He Hires Guard.

Chief of Police Gerk announced today that George O. Blockburger, Granite City real estate dealer and professional bondman, had admitted to him that he paid $40,000
ransom for Charles W. Pershall, wealthy Granite City grocer and banker, kidnaped last Wednesday night. Blockburger said he got the money from members of Pershall's family. Chief Gerk accepts Block-burger's story as true.

At Pershall's residence, 2015
Dulmar avenue, it was said today
he had departed for Little Rock, Ark., accompanied by his wife and two daughters. When Pershall returned home Friday night he brought one of his three sons along, who had been kidnaped, refusing to discuss his disappearance except to say he had been called away to Hot Springs, Ark., suddenly on Wednesday night for a conference concerning his grocery business, and had neglected to notify his family.

Bank Denies Large Withdrawal.
At the First National Bank in Granite City, of which Pershall is vice president, it was said there had been no large withdrawal of money by the Pershall family last week.

If $40,000 was paid in the Per-shall case, as Blockburger says,
the ransom paid in four recent kidnappings would total $113,000.
The police obtained from Block-burger an admission that he had acted as go-between for the Per-shall kidnapers, following his arrest in St. Louis yesterday as he was about to deliver a $2000 pensionary note to Herman Tipton, Cuckoo gang leader, and ex-con.

Blockburger was taken in custody at Eleventh and Pine streets at 2:40 p. m. and held an hour later Tipton was arrested. They drove up to keep an appointment with Blockburger.

Both Blockburger and Tipton insisted the $2000 note involves a legitimate realty transaction, and was "nobody's business." They denied participation in any extor-tionist activities.

Tells of Paying Over $40,000.
Under questioning by Chief of Detective Kauter this morning, Block-burger, while still maintaining the note was a legitimate transaction, admitted he had paid $40,000 cash to a representative of the kidnapers who met him in St. Louis by pre-arrangement in front of the Madison Hotel school on Seventh boulevard between La Salle and Hickory streets, about 5 p. m. Friday, a few hours before Pershall returned home.
After his explanation 48-hour detention. This is in a neighborhood infested with Cuckoo gangsters and their younger tribes, the "Gas House Gang" who have figured in other kidnappings.

Blockburger's account of his negotiations with the kidnapers was repeated by Chief of Police Gerk to reporters, as follows:
"After Pershall disappeared, a man telephoned me and said: 'You are in charge of the Pershall kidnap-ing. You get in touch with the family and ask $40,000 for us on once.'"
"I replied that I wanted knowing to do with that matter."
"If you know what's good for you, get out of this."

JAMES WEBB, BROKER, DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Member of Firm of Paul Brown & Co. in Hospital for Operation.

James Webb, a member of the firm of Paul Brown & Co., died of heart disease this morning at Barnes Hospital where he was to have undergone an abdominal operation. He was 60 years old.

Mr. Webb entered the hospital five days ago for treatment preparatory to an operation for a disease of the gall bladder. He suffered a heart attack shortly after he awoke this morning and died within 20 minutes.

Mr. Webb was born in St. Charles County and was employed as a young man as bookkeeper for the Brown Tobacco Co., later sold to the American Tobacco Co. He continued with the latter concern until 25 years ago, when he became cashier for the Paul Brown Brokerage Co. Following the death of Paul Brown Jr. in 1918, Mr. Webb was admitted as a member of the firm.

Surviving Mr. Webb are his wife, Mrs. Margaret Webb, with whom he resided at 5249 Waterman avenue; a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Knobloch, St. Louis, and a son, James Jr., a student at Princeton University. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Swiftest, Easiest Way to End Bilious Spell

When you neglect those first symptoms of constipation—unpleasant breath, coated tongue, listlessness—the whole system soon suffers. Appetite lags. Digestion slows up. You become headachy, dizzy, bilious. It's easy to correct inactive bowels. Take a small Cascarel tablet. See how quickly—and pleasantly—the bowels are activated. All the impure waste is gently propelled from the system. Regular and complete elimination is restored. Cascarels are made from pure castor oil, a substance which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have Cascarels, 10c.

Holdup Man Escapes After Crashing Into Post at Olive and Channing—Pursued From West End.

FOUR OTHERS ALSO MAKE GETAWAY

Police Machine Gun Barrage Fails to Down Men Involved in Six Holdups.

Two motor cycle patrolmen who crossed the path of an escaping filling station robber, who had stolen $80, fired seven shots at the man's car and pursued him from the West End to downtown and down Channing avenue and Olive streets, where the robber's machine crashed into a lamp post, about 11:20 a. m. today.

The robber jumped from the wrecked car as the pursuing motorcycle police were bringing their machines to a stop, and disappeared in an alley. He escaped.

The man held up the White Rose filling station at 5249 Ridge avenue, taking $80 and some papers belonging to the company, shortly after 11 o'clock.

While Earl Bridell, filling station attendant, was notifying police of the holdup, the robber got into his automobile and began to speed eastward. Near Easton avenue and Kingshighway, Motorcycle Officer John Engler saw the speeding machine and called to the driver to halt. The machine did not slacken speed and Engler fired a shot.

Bullet Hole in Auto.
Near Grand and Easton avenues Motorcycle Officer Herman Williams joined the chase. The robber car, traveling miles an hour, faster, reached Eighth street and Franklin avenue, with the officers close behind, and turned south. Engler fired a total of seven shots at the fleeing car, which again turned westward on Kingshighway.

The fugitive machine, at Beaumont street, again turned south, and at Olive street, turned west. At Channing and Olive street, the robber attempted a right-hand turn, and the car, traveling at a high rate of speed, skidded and crashed into a lamp post, where the robber jumped out and ducked into an alley.

In the automobile, police found a .22-caliber revolver and papers that belonged to the filling station attendant. In the rear of the car was a bullet hole where one of Engler's shots had taken effect.

Shots Exchanged in Pursuit of Robbers Involved in Six Holdups.
Occupants of a stolen automobile like one used by four men in holdups on 11 women in six street robberies last night, exchanged shots with police early today, eluding them and abandoning the car at the Florissant and Harris avenue entrance to O'Fallon Park.

Patrolman Streuter fired two shots when the machine was driven away as he approached it at Seventh and O'Fallon streets. When it was seen again later at Sixth street and Franklin avenue, detectives were called and they pursued over Seventh street and Broadway, to the vicinity of O'Fallon Park, firing 19 shots with a machine gun.

The machine bore seven bullet holes when recovered and a number of powder boxes taken from women's purses were on the floor. It had been stolen Friday from A. B. Buckey, 3831 Utah place. The apprehending police, said, showed traces of blood stain.

The robbers took two diamond rings valued at $300 from Miss Helen Trythall, 4305 Lindell boulevard, when they accosted her and Miss Pauline Bowman of the same address on Boyle avenue near Westminster place. Miss Bowman saved a ring by placing it in her mouth.

Others robbed were: Miss Frieda Hodel, 5371 Waterman avenue, and Miss Eleanor Weinrich, 5383 Waterman, held up near their homes, $445 taken; Miss Mary Loftus, 5310 McPherson, near Nina place and McPherson, 80 cents; Miss Blanche Holz, 5932 Cabanne avenue, and a woman companion, in front of 511 Bolt avenue, $11; Mrs. Amelia Ghio and Mrs. Madeline Ghio, both of 6140 McPherson, in front of 6132 McPherson, 30 cents; Mrs. Samantha Neff, 5250 Delmar boulevard, and a woman companion, at Rosedale and McPherson, 1c.

George Hlaviviec, a printer, 1387A South Thirteenth street, was killed at 7:20 o'clock last night when struck by an automobile while crossing Twelfth street at Calhoun street with Mrs. Anna Parnoss, 1233 South Fourteenth street, and her son, Thomas, 9 years old. The driver fled from the scene.

Hlaviviec, who was 23 years old, was dragged about 70 feet on the front of the machine, which was described by witnesses as a yellow roadster. He was dead of a fractured skull when picked up. The driver increased speed, escaping south on Twelfth street.

Mrs. Parnoss and her son were knocked down, she suffering cuts and bruises and the boy a probable skull fracture. Mrs. Parnoss told police that Hlaviviec was taking her and her son to a theater and they were preparing to board a street car when struck.

Joseph Stein of the Telegraph road, St. Louis County, was taken to Alexian Brothers Hospital last night suffering from fractures of the skull and several ribs.

GARBAGE SERVICE TO BE RESUMED BY CITY TOMORROW

Board of Public Service Decides to Let S. P. Elliott Continue to Carry Out Contract.

Garbage collections, suspended since last Wednesday because of a temporary injunction against taking garbage to Hog Haven Farms, on the East Side opposite Sidney street, will be resumed tomorrow.

The Board of Public Service decided today that no emergency contract will be necessary. Garbage will be delivered at the foot of Chouteau avenue to Hog Haven Farms, Inc., under the five-year contract, which became effective Thursday. Where the garbage is taken from Chouteau avenue, the board decided, will be the contractor's business so long as it is not taken to Hog Haven Farms, which the injunction forbids.

The board met in special session in the Mayor's office with Acting Mayor Neun, who had called the meeting, Comptroller Nolte and City Counselor Muench. They considered Circuit Judge Peary's injunction order which held that the farm would constitute a nuisance to South St. Louis residents because of odors and insects, and a letter from Samuel P. Elliott, president of the Hog Haven company, that he was willing to carry out the contract and could dispose of the garbage at some place other than Hog Haven.

Elliott's Plan Not Disclosed.
Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks told reporters that Elliott had not informed city officials where the garbage would be disposed of and that the city was not interested so long as it was removed promptly and not taken to Hog Haven. In case the contractor is unable to take care of the garbage, which averages about 170 tons a day at this time of the year, emergency measures will be considered, Brooks said.

In a letter to Brooks, delivered by a lawyer for Hog Haven, Elliott said the company would not ask the city to let an emergency contract at an unreasonably high price, "but we are public-spirited enough to carry on the emergency disposal at the price named in our present contract." He said a barge was waiting on the Missouri shore to take garbage some place other than Hog Haven, although the additional cost to the company would be "thousands of dollars."

Succumbs to Tuberculosis in California Sanitarium, With Only Secretary and Nurse at Bedside.

By the Associated Press.
MONROVIA, Cal., Feb. 24.—Mabel Normand, famous comedienne in the earlier days of the movies, died of tuberculosis in a sanitarium here yesterday after a vain fight of many months.

The private secretary and closest friend, Mrs. Julia Benson, who was with her until the last, told how the girl who has made millions laugh, faced the end in the quiet hours before dawn.

"A few minutes before the end came," Mrs. Benson said, "Mabel reached over, took my hand and asked me to pray with her. I did as she requested and as I leaned over and whispered into her ear she smiled and closed her eyes as if to go to sleep. A moment later the end came."

The passing of Miss Normand, whose 35 years were as full of tragedy and unhappiness as her pictures were full of gaiety and laughter, was not unexpected. She became ill in December, 1928, with an ailment which developed into tuberculosis. Blood transfusions recently gave her temporary strength, but soon thereafter she began to sink.

Husband at Birthday Party.
Miss Normand's husband, Lew Cody, film actor, was told of her death by Norman Kerry, at the conclusion of a birthday party in Cody's honor at the Kerry home. Funeral arrangements have been tentatively set for Friday morning at the Church of the Good Shepherd, with burial in Calvary cemetery.

Definite arrangements, however, await the arrival of Miss Normand's mother, Mrs. Mary Normand; a brother, Claude Normand Jr., and a sister, Gladys Normand, from Staten Island, N. Y. Her father, Claude Normand Sr., died a few days ago in Staten Island.

A murder, a shooting and an alienation of affections suit brought the first shadows into Miss Normand's life.

young Denver oil millionaire, and Miss Normand were at a party at the home of Edna Purviance, actress, when Miss Normand's chauffeur went there on an errand. While there the chauffeur shot and wounded Dines. The motive was never satisfactorily explained, although the driver was acquitted.

About a year later Miss Normand was brought into the divorce complaint of Mrs. Georgia W. Church against Norman W. Church. Miss Normand retaliated with a complaint charging libel, and asked for $500,000 damages. The divorce complaint later was withdrawn.

Born in Boston in 1894.

Miss Normand was born in Boston, Nov. 18, 1894, and her family moved to Staten Island when she was quite young. She was the tomboy of the neighborhood and one of her youthful playmates was Louis Costello, now Lew Cody, to whom she was married at 2 a. m. Sept. 18, 1926, after a gay party. "Mickey," made in 1918, was considered by many to be her best picture.

In 1921 she returned to the screen in "Molly-O," which demonstrated that the star, in spite of her absence, had lost none of her popularity. She became seriously ill in 1927, but came back to repeat her success in "Suzanna" and "The Extra Girl."

Senator Barkley of Ken-

Enables Industries to Ov-ercharge Consumers Here

SAME FIRMS SEEK INCREASED RATES

Democrat Says Import Permits Underselling of Foreign Competitors in Both Fields.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Bldg.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Citing differences in domestic and foreign selling prices of American-made products, Senator Barkley (Dem., Kentucky), a member of the Senate Finance Committee, asserted yesterday that certain manufacturers now demanding greater tariff protection were overcharging the American consumer and giving lower prices abroad.

Barkley, a leader in the fight for lower tariff rates, stated that this overcharging of the American people was one reason "that the Senate has been compelled, through the Democratic party and the progressive Republicans, to rewrite the tariff bill in the interest of fairness and justice to the American consumer."

"One of the most amazing phases of the tariff fight," Barkley said,
"has been the demand of certain industries for large increases in tariff rates to protect them and their employees against foreign trade, while at the same time they are sending their products to the rest of the world, underselling products in those countries and underselling their own products in the American market."

Assails Steel Companies.
The steel industry, Barkley charged, is one of the greatest offenders.

"Increases in almost every item of the metal schedule were demanded," he said, "and, in many cases, granted by the House bill and the Senate committee. The claim set forth in justification of these increases was that steel and iron products made in other countries were being brought into America and sold for less than the domestic product. The American people will be surprised to learn that the very steel companies demanding this increase and favor-ism at the hands of Congress ship their own products to other countries and sell them at prices far below those charged to the American people."

"For instance, the American manufacturers of steel billets shipped them to Mexico and Canada, paying the freight on them from the point of production, and sold them at 66 per cent of the price charged the American people in the United States. Steel rails made in America are sold in foreign countries for only 74 per cent of the price charged the American people."

"Structural steels made in America are shipped to England, France, Canada and Mexico, and sold at an average of 60 per cent of the price charged the American people. Steel wires made in America are shipped to England, France, Germany, Canada and Mexico by rail and water, and are sold at 64 per cent of the price charged the American people."

More Comparisons.
"Steel wire made in America is sold to foreigners at 70 per cent of the price charged Americans. Galvanized wire and sheets made in America are shipped abroad and
sold at 77 per cent of the price charged in the United States."

Steel from produced in America is sold abroad at 88 per cent of American prices. Coke produced in the United States is shipped to England, France, Germany, Canada and Mexico, and many other countries, and sold at 64 per cent of American prices. The same is true of many other products, such as tin plate, ferro-manganese, ferro-tungsten and lead. Upon all of which Congress has been brought and labored to increase the tariff duties, so as to prevent importations.

"We cannot presume that intelligent American business men are shipping their products abroad and selling them at a loss, and therefore we are bound to conclude that they are charging the American people an exorbitant price for many of these products, and they are able to do it because of the constantly increasing tariff duties levied upon these products by Republican Congresses."

"If they say that they are selling these American-made products abroad at a loss, then they are overcharging the American people
in order to make up their losses abroad. In either case, the American people are bearing the brunt and suffering the burden."

BUSINESS MEN FORM AGRICULTURAL CLUB

Started by Chamber of Commerce Group to Promote Mutual Understanding.

An Agricultural Club open to all St. Louis business men, and other activities to promote mutual understanding between a considerable section of St. Louis business and the farm area which it depends, have been adopted by the Chamber of Commerce Agricultural Committee, headed by Wood Netherland, president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis.

A member of the Federal Farm Board is to be invited to speak at the first meeting of the Agricultural Club next month. It is to hold monthly meetings to throw light on the problems of farmers and associated business men. Its purpose is two-fold—to emphasize in St. Louis the dependence on agricultural prosperity, and to support forces in the surrounding section for development of profitable agriculture.

Radio is to be used in explaining what St. Louis business and institutions have to offer agriculture in its trade territory. Information is to be provided for county agents and vocational teachers. Representatives are to be sent to meetings for farm organizations, and will be available to appear on their programs.

Specific responsibility for effective action along specific lines is to be assigned to various committees. The program calls for an executive committee, a legislative committee with representation on the Chamber's legislative groups, a committee on sanitation of food products such as milk and meat, and a livestock committee.

Plans already are under way for the first meeting of the club. Every effort is being made to draw up programs of interest and importance. Its meetings are to be addressed by authorities.

For Coughs Due To Colds, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of bad coughs due to colds, giving prompt relief, is astonishing.

Any drugist can supply you with 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of incipient bronchial coughs and other severe coughs due to colds.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

RECEIVER CHARGES FRAUD IN ISSUING CYTRON MORTGAGE

As a Result, Lawyers Who Held $35,000 Second Papers Withdraw Motion to Prevent Sale.

A petition for the cancellation of a $35,000 second mortgage on the building of the Cytron Mortgage Co. at 110 North Ninth street, held by former Circuit Judge A. B. Frey, Max Sigoloff and George W. Lubke Jr., attorneys, was argued before Federal Judge Davis today with the result that the three lawyers withdrew a motion to prevent the sale of the property under foreclosure.

M. H. Rodemeyer, receiver for the company, asked for cancellation of the mortgage on the ground that it was issued fraudulently as security for unearned legal fees. His petition was an answer to a motion which asked that the order of sale be set aside because the receiver had failed to recognize the existence of the second mortgage.

At the hearing, Frey defended the arrangement, stating that the mortgage was delivered as security for a legal fee set at $10,000, and to create a fund for the payment of taxes and interest and to protect clients of the company who had threatened criminal prosecution. There had been no attempt at secrecy in the transaction, he said.

Offers to Withdraw Motion. "Your honor will realize the importance of this matter to my clients (Gustave Cytron, founder of the company, and his associates), when I tell you that they are likely to be indicted if the bondholders who have complained are not provided for," Frey said in explanation.

Judge Davis replied sharply. "If your client, Judge Frey, ought to be indicted for the misappropriation of funds in this case, I hope that he is indicted," he said. "And, of course, if he ought not to be indicted I hope that he is not indicted."

Then Frey offered to withdraw his motion, with the understanding that the second mortgage would remain a lien against the property when it was sold, and John F. Green, attorney for the receiver, indicated he would withdraw his answer, leaving the status of the questioned mortgage to be determined after the property is sold.

Frey told reporters he considered himself the victor in the legal tilt in that his original motion sought only to have the mortgage recognized as a lien.

The receiver's petition related that the mortgage was delivered Dec. 26, last, to secure fees for services rendered between Dec. 14 and Dec. 26 and thereafter. At the time, the receiver alleged, the Cytron company was not indebted for legal services in the sum of $15,000, "or in any sum even approximating that amount."

Estimate Services at $2000. The receiver asserted that the company's only valid indebtedness to the lawyers at the time the mortgage was issued was for services rendered during the two weeks preceding. Estimating the reasonable value of these services at not more than $2000, the receiver alleged that the mortgage to secure a greater amount was fraudulent in law and null and void. The allegation is made that Frey, Sigoloff and Lubke "had notice of the purposes for which these deeds of trust were issued and that the transfer was in fraud of the rights of persons entitled to this security."

The petition stated that early disposition of his property was essential because "to continue to carry it would cause an unnecessary drain upon the free assets now in the hands of the receiver and would be unfair to the unsecured creditors."

Appraisal of various properties owned by the Cytron company, against which the company issued and sold second and third mortgage bonds, has been completed by a committee of three real estate men appointed by Federal Judge Davis, and is in the hands of Receiver Rodemeyer.

Although Rodemeyer will not discuss the contents of the report, it is understood that the valuation of the properties has been marked down to such an extent, that equities behind the second and third mortgages have been greatly reduced, and, in some instances, completely wiped out.

The receiver has sent letters to bondholders warning them against speculators who have been offering to buy "worthless" Cytron bonds. The letters pointed out that equities in some of the properties are sufficient to protect bondholders, while in others the bonds are practically valueless.

Audit Proceeding Slowly. The appraiser's report is withheld pending completion of an audit of the Cytron books. The audit, it was learned, has been retarded by the unwillingness of auditors to proceed because the apparent assets of the firm appear insufficient to insure payment of their fee. However, the audit has been proceeding slowly with a limited staff.

Since the company and its subsidiaries were placed in receivership late in December, no definite figure on the expected loss to investors has been available. Carl

Dubinsky, counsel for a receiver-petitioner, has estimated that holders of Cytron bonds will lose more than $5,000,000; Frey has declared there will be "a minimum of loss," and Receiver Rodemeyer has asserted an estimate will be impossible until the audit is completed.

Both Frey and Rodemeyer have declared that losses to investors may be reduced or averted if the receiver is allowed to continue the business and is not forced to liquidate at foreclosure sales.

DRUGGIST FINDS OUT FOR HIMSELF
REM proves more effective
 Mr. A. R. Marotta is a Pharmaceutical Chemist at Genovese's Pharmacy, 101st and 6th Aves., Long Island City, N. Y. Formerly he used to compound a special remedy for his own use, whenever he caught cold and got a cough from it. But about two years ago he caught a heavy cold and cough, and the usual mixture failed to relieve him. Then he thought of REM—so many of his customers had been buying it—and REM stopped his cough in a surprisingly short time. "I've felt very kindly towards REM ever since," reports Mr. Marotta "and I always use it in preference to any other cough medicine." Thousands of others, like Mr. Marotta, have found REM's exclusive formula different and better. You'll find it out too, by asking your druggist for REM.

 Approximately $1,500,000 worth of business, most of it in distributor and dealer contracts, was transacted. Sales included four 18-passenger Condor transports to T. A. T. Maddux, and several purchases by private individuals. The Lockheed Sirius displayed at the show was bought by the Shell Oil Co. and will be used by Capt. Harold Denison of Marion, Ind., won second prize, the Post-Dispatch trophy, in the model contest, one of his planes remaining in the air 6 minutes and 29 seconds.
 The dismantling of booths and plane displays was started last night. Planes were wheeled to the Forest Park landing field preparatory to being flown back to factories in various sections of the country. ## PRESIDENT URGES ECONOMY IN NEW APPROPRIATIONS

ells Congressional Leaders Only $50,000,000 Will Be Available After Regu-

$1,725,000,000 IN BILLS STILL PENDING

Increase of 40 Per Cent in Taxes Necessary, if Measures Are Passed, Conferences Are Told.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—President Hoover today informed congressional leaders that, after expenditures contemplated in budget estimates had been met, there would be about $50,000,000 available for appropriations while there were bills pending in the House and Senate calling for an additional outlay of $1,725,000,000.

At a White House breakfast conference Mr. Hoover said a survey by the director of the Budget of demands on the Treasury, if granted, would imply an increase in taxes of at least 40 per cent. None of the existing appropriation bills, seven of which have been passed by the House, is affected in any way by the program of economy which the administration has outlined.

The breakfast was attended by Senator Watson of Indiana, the Senate Republican leader, Chairman McNary of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee, Chairman Jones of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Speaker Longworth, Congressman Tilton of Connecticut, House Republican leader, Chairman Snell of the House Rules Committee, Chairman Hawley of the House Ways and Means Committee, Secretary Mellon of the Treasury, Under-Secretary Mills of the Treasury and Director Ropp of the Budget Bureau. The White House issued a statement on the conference after the meal.

Budget Director's Survey.
The director of the budget, under instructions of the President, the White House announced, said, "has prepared a survey of the various projects which have been presented to Congress and the administration, which will include additional expenditures beyond the present authorizations and beyond the present budget. These demands are being made on Congress and the administration from different sections of the country and from different interest groups. The amounts below are a summary of these projects and are given in the amount of additional expenditure that would be imposed on the Federal budget during the first year of their operation. These are not the total projected which are very much larger, but simply the annual addition to the budget. Many of the items would be permanent and increasing annually."

"Public roads, $350,000,000.
"Rivers and harbors, $25,000,000.
"Compensation of property owners for rights-of-way in flood control, $100,000,000.
"Loans to levee districts, $100,000,000.
"Protection to forests, $10,000,000.
"Eradication of pests, $20,000,000.
"Expansion of agricultural service, $20,000,000.
"Scientific research, $5,000,000.
"Development of Columbia River, $15,000,000.
"Reclamation service, $100,000,000.
"National parks and memorials, $50,000,000.
"Indian service, $5,000,000.
"Naval construction, $50,000,000.
"Military aviation, $25,000,000.
"Increased army and navy pay, $10,000,000.
"Army-Navy hospitals, barracks and posts, $15,000,000.
"Employment service, $5,000,000.
"Disaster relief, $15,000,000.
"Increase in Spanish War veterans' service, $45,000,000.
"Increase in Civil War veterans' pensions, $40,000,000.
"Increase in World War veterans' service, $400,000,000.
"Increased Civil Service pensions, $10,000,000.
"Increase in Civil Service pay, $100,000,000.
"Education, $100,000,000.
Total, $1,725,000,000.

"The present Federal income is approximately $4,000,000,000 per annum and such a program would imply an increase in taxes of 40 per cent."

In addition to the above list other projects are being urged, but are not regarded as imminent, which would impose a further expenditure of fully $1,500,000,000 per annum.
Walter Newton, one of the President's secretaries, in announcing the subject of the breakfast table conference, said: "The first of the

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 24.—The Naval Conference, now awaiting return of a French delegation representing the new Chautemps Government, began getting under way today for its fifth week, after a lull of several days.

The subcommittee on special affairs at St. James' Palace is finishing its report. Secretary Stimson, chief of the American delegation, returned from Stanmore to the American headquarters, and there was considerable activity in connection with resumption of the full conference proceedings later in the week, probably on Wednesday.

LIBERTY MUSIC HALL RECEIVERSHIP IS SOUGHT

Mrs. Edith Dane, Wife of President of Company, Says Firm Is Insolvent

Appointment of a receiver for the Liberty Music Hall Co., operating the Liberty Theater, 3827 Delmar boulevard, was filed in Circuit Court today by Mrs. Edith Dane, wife of Oscar Dane, president of the company.

Mrs. Dane states in her petition that she is the owner of 25 shares of stock in the concern and is its principal creditor. She says the company is insolvent and that other creditors are threatening to attach assets. The chief asset is the lease on the theater, the petition states.

A. A. Wolff, attorney for Mrs. Dane, said she actually owns all the stock in the company, except two shares, which are held by her husband. The company was organized 10 years ago.

RAILROADS NOT LIABLE FOR RETAIL PRICE OF LOST GOODS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The Supreme Court today held that railroads, in paying for shipments lost in transit, could not be required to pay what the lost merchandise would have brought if it had been delivered and sold at retail.

The question reached the court in a case brought by the Illinois Central, seeking to have reversed a decision of the lower courts that the P. McCoy Fuel Co. of Minnesota was entitled to recover for coal lost in transit from Roylston, Ill., to Minneapolis, damages measured by the price of coal would have brought had it been delivered.

The Pennsylvania and other railroads joined the Illinois Central in contending that the liability of the carriers, when shipments are lost in transit, should be a fair average market value of the lost merchandise at the time and place of shipment.

WOMAN HURT IN GLIDER CRASH

Ruth Alexander, Altitude Record
Holder, Faints After Landing.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 24.—Ruth Alexander, holder of the woman's altitude record for airplane, was injured here yesterday in a glider crash.

She had taken off in a primary glider in an effort to qualify for a first-class glider pilot license. Soon after taking off she encountered a descending air current. In banking to overcome it one of the wings of the glider caught a bush and crashed. She was shaken up, her nose skinned and she fainted after landing. She was reported as not seriously injured. Miss Alexander later laughed at her mishap as one of the things that happen in flying. She said she expected to make another try for her first-class glider license here next Sunday. About 300 spectators saw the woman flyer crash.

prospect: Paris dispatches have said there will be no change in the Tardieu naval policy, demands of which the other four naval Powers regard as excessive.

The London press is, in some respects pessimistic on the future of the conference, but Premier MacDonald, Secretary Stimson and Wakatsuki are said still to think that action will proceed speedily toward ultimate limitation of arms. The American delegation is being counted on by the Knights of the Round Table Club to be in London, March 28, when a banquet will be given to Ambassador Dawes and members of the American delegation. Sir Trevor Dawson will preside. There had been some expectation that the conference might be over March 15 but the week's delay caused by the French Cabinet crisis in all likelihood will keep the delegations here later.

one occasion and enhances the effect of his addresses. Bishop Rowe introduced him to a St. Louis congregation at a mass meeting at Christ Church Cathedral last night.

Next to his religion, which, like the Bishop's admits of no dogma, Mather is devoted to his music. Largely self taught, he can play any wind instrument and the piano "a little." Incidentally, he is the leader of the Ketchikan brass band and is almost as proud of that as he is of his choir. Indians of three tribes sing in the choir.

"The slide trombone is my instrument," he said, "and I love to play it."

Hymns in His Own Tongue. Bishop Rowe said the Indian possesses an excellent voice also and has brought with him an Indian love song, a war song of his tribe, and an Alaskan canoe song, the music of which he arranged himself.

"Yes, I sing a hymn in my own tongue," Mather said, "but it means the same in any language. No, I have no complicated beliefs. I just think that everyone in this world is my friend. I believe that there is a hereafter. Our souls never die. If we obey God we will be rewarded. If we do not, we will be punished."

"My people honor Bishop Rowe because he is a minister but they respect and love him because he is a man. They look forward for months to his yearly visit to my village."

Contrary to popular belief Alaska totem poles bear no religious significance, Mather explained, but designate family relationships. A totem pole corresponds to a family coat of arms in the United States, he said, and in olden days served as a guide to the traveler where he could find his own people. There are four clans, each having a totem pole, in each of the three tribes—Tsimshian, Haida and Tlingit—in his section of Alaska, he said.

Mather avoids commenting on the manners and morals of the people he sees. But he did observe that the women of this country do not dress as they do in Alaska.

"They dress too short," Mather said. "It's foolish to dress that way."

And although he has been a teetotaler all his life, the early part of which was spent, as a millwright, he does not believe in prohibition.

he asserted, "teaching people how to drink. And I am told it is harming the States. It seems quite likely."

Mather, who is 51 years old, possesses a rugged physique. He visits lonely salmon fishing camps on the waters, streams and tributaries in southeast Alaska and in the winter time, when the temperature hovers around 70 below zero, he calls upon his parishioners nearer home.

Some of the fish traps, he said, catch 25,000 fish a day. For many years Mather held a steamboat pilot's license, piloting vessels through Clarence Straits, Tongass Narrows and the Behm Canal. "I cannot stand this heat much longer," Mather commented, "and yesterday I bought my first one."

HELD FOR EMBEZZLING $23,000 AT DESLOGE

E. W. Leisner Accused of Taking Money While Manager of Store.

E. W. Leisner, 31 years old, former manager of the Desloge, Mo. branch store of the G. H. Wetterau & Sons Grocery Co. of St. Louis, is being held by the St. Francis County authorities under bond of $10,000, on a warrant charging him with embezzling $23,000 from the company while manager. The warrant was issued at the request of officers of the grocery company, who said today that Leisner admitted to them he had embezzled approximately that amount during the past six months. Leisner, according to Otto Wetterau, president of the firm, was removed from his position as manager on Feb. 1, immediately after he came to St. Louis, and told officers of the company he had diverted money belonging to the firm for his own use. The pecuniations, according to Wetterau, were covered up by various means, including the use of duplicate bank pass books, and false entries in the books of the branch store. Officers of the company said an audit of the books after the disappearance, revealed the shortage. Leisner told them the money was spent in gambling on the East Side, and lost in various ways. Leisner had been employed by the company for about four years as manager at Desloge, and before that time he was employed in St. Louis by the firm. He has a wife and a child at Desloge.

FOUR PER CENT GAIN IN INDUSTRY IN MONTH

This Is Report of Federal Reserve Board — Slump in Some Lines.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. — The Federal Reserve Board in its summary of general business conditions issued today reported a 4 per cent increase in industrial production in January from the low level of December.

This increase, the Board said, reflected principally a larger output of automobiles, steel, cotton textiles and shoes. Output of copper, cement, lumber, anthracite coal and flour declined. In the first two weeks of February steel plants reported an increased rate of operation but continued to be less active than in the corresponding period of 1929.

"Factory employment, which was in relatively small volume in the middle of December, was further reduced by the middle of January but preliminary reports indicate a slight increase in the three weeks following," the summary said.

"In automobile and steel plants there was an increase in employment in the month ending Jan. 15, and in recent weeks further increases have been reported for these industries. There were decreases in January in the number of wage earners employed in the machinery, car-building and repairing, lumber and cement industries."

The Board said there was a further liquidation of bank credit and a decline in money rates, while commodity prices continued to move downward.

RALPH DECLINES TO SPEAK

State Senator Richard F. Ralph, who has declined to comment on criticisms of the sewer law bearing his name, under which eight districts have been organized in St. Louis County, will not accept the invitation of the North University City Improvement Association to discuss the law at a mass meeting at the City Hall tomorrow night. Speakers for the Taxpayers' Protective Association, organized to oppose sewer construction under the Ralph act, have accepted invitations to address the meeting. G. E. Palfrey is president of the Improvement Association, which has sent invitations to more than 100 subdivision trustees and city officials.

Charged with Laziness

Guilty Simply of Acidity!

More than one man today is misjudged and unjustly penalized because of a not understood physical condition rather than any lack of willingness or ability.

So many of us are only half ourselves, only 50 percent efficient, because we are victims of an insidious condition of acidity! That persistent tired feeling—that clouded mind—that lack of dash and fire—that missing punch that decides so many situations in business—are all usually due to an acid system.

Acidity is brought on by our unnatural eating, excessive smoking and irregular hours. It impairs digestion, and causes fermentation and putrefaction in the intestines and drags us down physically and mentally.

A remarkable corrective of acidity has been developed by a famous 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany. Improved Magnesia comes in the form of small white tablets called Magnesia Oxidized which do not have to be chewed, but may be swallowed whole. Magnesia Oxidized, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generates an active enzyme. Now, ac-

FALL FROM POLO PONY BYRNE KILLS EUGENE BYFIELD

Chicago Sportsman, Hotel Sherman Co. Head, Succumbs—In Coma 130 Hours.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Eugene Byfield, sportsman, hotel owner and man about town, died early today in a fall from his polo pony. He was 46 years old, unmarried, and vice president of the Hotel Sherman Co.

Mr. Byfield died without regaining consciousness, having lain in a coma 130 hours.

At Grasmere Farm, his Barrington place, Byfield bred show dogs, polo ponies and racing horses that brought him international recognition among sportsmen. In 1924, his mount, Redlight, was adjudged the best-playing and most reliable polo pony by the Horse Association of America.

When interest in polo lagged in the Middle West several years ago, Byfield was one of the first to join in its revival. Recently, he had entered the pride of his stable, Racketeer, in the Kentucky Derby. His friends included thousands of the great and famous in the political, social, business, sport and theatrical world, and many of those he had entertained in his Ball Tabarin and in the bungalow atop the Sherman.

He left the University of Chicago before graduation to enter the Hotel Sherman corporation, of which his father, the late Joseph Byfield, was the head.

Two brothers survive, Dr. Albert H. Byfield and Ernest Byfield, who recently was married to Mrs. Katherine Read, a divorcee.

ive oxygen, as any doctor will tell you, when generated within the digestive tract, does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus, it checks the putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. It exercises a stimulating effect upon the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the movement of the bowels.

All three effects are necessary to the true relief of acidity and Magnesia Oxide supply them in a perfectly natural manner.

BYRD SHIP MAY REACH ICE PACK TOMORROW

City of New York Making Five or Six Knots—Sea Is Calm.

ON BOARD THE BARK CITY OF NEW YORK, in Ross Sea, Monday, Feb. 24.—The City of New York, carrying Admiral Byrd and the members of his expedition, is making five to six knots through the Ross Sea toward the ice pack, which should be reached tomorrow.

The ship's position at noon today (we skipped a day when crossing the 180th meridian) is about latitude 72.30 degrees south, longitude 178 degrees east. The sea is calm and there is a light favorable wind.

For three days the ship has had one of the most seasick expeditions that ever put to sea. Only four or five were immune.

There was a heavy head sea the first two days after leaving the barrier that made the City of New York quite lively; at least it seemed so to those who had not been on ship for a year.

But, fortunately, the gale which drove the ship so far to the west on its southern passage has blown itself out, and the passage so far has been surprisingly comfortable.

It is quite warm today also, only 28 degrees above zero, Fahrenheit, and the remaining ice on the ship is melting.

Inasmuch as the ship's position at noon of the previous day was latitude 74.50 degrees south, longitude 178 degrees east, the vessel

HEADACHE SOMETIMES A SERIOUS WARNING

A prominent physician says: "There is hardly an organ in the body, the damage to which is not accompanied by symptomatic headache. Occasionally it is among the first signs of a severe illness and is therefore of very great importance."

This same authority then names at least twenty serious troubles which are usually accompanied or preceded by headache.

He concludes with the advice: "When headache is due to some little indiscretion it usually disappears after using one or two home remedies, including a laxative; when it persists for three days or longer it should be carefully investigated."

LEFTOVER MEAT MAKES APPETIZING DISHES

Good Wholesome Foods Should Never Be Cast Into the Incinerator.

It is never ending this problem of leftovers, for there always seems to be some dish that should be remade and this reconcocting is well worth the time spent, for good wholesome foods should never find their way into the incinerator. The secret of using the leftover bits of food to advantage is to make the dinner think he is having something new—something different, that is so attractive to the eye and palate that second helpings will be demanded and the family will "rave" about the new dish.

Meat and all other protein foods should be conserved carefully and every bit purchased used to the best possible advantage. The leftover bacon from breakfast may appear at the evening meal broken in small bits and in the guise of a garnish for the simple lettuce salad or combined with a plain muffin, ham and served as dainty bacon muffins to accompany the main dish.

The bits of meat left from dinner the previous evening— not enough to speak about, but plenty for four or six persons when extended with half cup rice cooked in salted water, then cooled and combined with the meat which has been put through the food chopper, a teaspoon of grated or chopped onion, salt and pepper to season, the left over gravy to moisten the mixture or just enough white sauce to give the right consistency. Then remove the leaves from a head of cabbage, blanch them well and place a few tablespoons of the tasty mixture on one end of each leaf, fold the edges over and wrap the leaf around the stuffing. Secure the loose end of each leaf with a tooth pick. Place the rolls in a greased casserole, pour over a well-seasoned, slightly thickened tomato sauce to just cover the rolls and bake uncovered in a moderate oven for 25 minutes. Serve from the casserole. Mashed baked squash, a lettuce salad with left-over bacon garnish, apple brown betty made from stale bread, complete the meal. Unless told the family would never guess that the dinner was made almost entirely from left overs.

Other suggestions for the use of left-over cooked meat include this dish called "Mexican beef" which is an ideal way of utilizing cold roast beef.

Prepare thinly cut slices of cold roast beef. Make a sauce of two tablespoons butter, one onion chopped fine, one teaspoon celery salt, one green pepper, chopped fine, one red pepper, chopped fine, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and three-fourths can of tomatoes. Brown the butter, add the chopped onion, and cook for a few minutes. Then add the chopped peppers, tomatoes, salt, pepper and celery salt. Cook all together for a few minutes and add the thinly sliced roast beef. When the meat has become thoroughly heated, it is ready to serve.

Individual lamb pies appeal to even an epicure. Make them with two cups diced cold cooked lamb or mutton, one-half cup diced carrots, one-half cup canned peas and one cup gravy or thickened stock. Cut into small pieces any left over lamb or mutton. Cook the carrots until they are soft, add them, together with the peas, to the meat and pour the gravy or thickened stock over all. Simmer gently for a few minutes. Line petty pans with a thin layer of baking powder biscuit dough, fill with the mixture and cover the top with another thin layer of the dough. Bake in a quick oven until the dough is baked.

ABOUT A BALANCED DIET
Succinct Explanation of What This Really Is.
People interested in food talk a great deal about the value of a complete diet, yet there is considerable confusion as to what constitutes this.

In simple language, an adequate or a complete diet must have, first, enough of the right kind of protein or body building material; next, it must have plenty of the mineral salts which keep the body structure or frame in good condition and help in the regular working of the body processes; third, it must provide enough of each of the vitamins, and last it must supply the necessary nutriment to keep the body weight normal and to provide for growth in children.

CHILDREN HAVE DISTINCT FOOD LIKES AND DISLIKES

While Unable to Cater to Small Folks, Their Taste Should Be Considered.

Do not forget, when planning meals for the little folks, that children are people, too, and with very distinct likes and dislikes as to what they eat.

Surely no mother will doubt the wisdom of having the child eat because he enjoys his food rather than because he is coaxed and cajoled in taking proper nourishment.

Cereals are a staple in child feeding and with the great variety of breakfast foods now obtainable, it is a simple matter to avoid monotony in the menu.

Even where the child's preference is for two or three varieties only, both flavor and appearance may be changed readily so that he can have not only variety, but also the added advantage of increased food value.

BAKED LENTILS WITH RICE IS A REAL PLATE MEAL

Very Simple Dessert or a Fruit Salad May Be Added If Desired.

Wash two cups of lentils and look over carefully to remove any pieces of stone or pebbles which always seem to be present in dried lentils, peas or beans.

Soak the lentils overnight in five cups of cold water. In the morning, cook in the same water for one and one-half hours or until tender. When boiling, add two teaspoons salt and a small onion cut in quarters.

Meanwhile cook one cup rice in five cups of boiling salted water for 20 minutes. Drain and mix lightly with the cooked, drained lentils.

Melt three tablespoons butter in a saucepan, add a shredded green pepper, one-quarter cup sliced onions, one stalk of celery cut fine. Cook for five minutes, then add two cups canned tomatoes and salt and pepper to season. Boil for five minutes, mix with the rice and lentils, and pour into a deep, buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

This is a hearty dish and makes a complete meal in itself. A very simple dessert of sliced fruit or a plain fruit salad with French dressing may be served with it if desired.

BUFFET SUPPER FINE FOR INFORMAL PARTY

At These Affairs Cold Foods and Hot Beverages Are Favored.

Informal Sunday night suppers are the favorite form of entertaining in many families, where they have become a regularly established custom, eagerly anticipated by friends.

To begin with, a buffet supper is one of those affairs where the food is arranged on platters or individual plates and everyone helps himself and sits where he will. Informal, entertaining and altogether delightful. And suited especially to an undetermined number of guests who may wander in when one keeps "open house."

The menu should be simple. Thin, pink slices of baked and spiced ham; individual jellied salads crisp with celery, green peppers, chopped pickles and finely sliced beets; plates of hot buttered biscuits; sliced oranges with white grapes and coconut for dessert with fruit cake and plenty of hot tea or chocolate and coffee.

Individual plates are arranged with the ham and a salad and placed on the serving table. On the dining table are a tea urn, a pot of chocolate, cups and saucers, the necessary silver and napkins. The dessert in sherbet cups on the sideboard. This arrangement does away with confusion and makes self-serving a very simple matter. The biscuits are kept warm on a covered plate and replenished as necessary from the kitchen. Guests carry their plates to the living-room where convenient small tables were placed by large chairs and alongside the couch. Where only a small number are to be served it may be more desirable to use the dining table.

The ham, salad, dessert and even the biscuits may be prepared the day before.

The salad for eight servings is made as follows: Soak two and one-half tablespoons of gelatin in one-half cup cold water for five minutes. Dissolve in two cups of boiling water and add one-fourth cup vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon sugar and a few drops Worcestershire sauce. Cool until just beginning to thicken, then stir in one cup finely cut celery, three tablespoons shredded green pepper, two tablespoons sliced sweet pickles and one and one-half cups finely sliced cooked beets. This time of year you may find the canned beets better than the fresh ones. Pour the salad into eight small molds and set aside to chill and harden. Turn out on lettuce and garnish with stiff mayonnaise. This is very attractive in color and blends beautifully with the ham and the green lettuce.

Amberina for Dessert. Slice firm, deep-colored oranges, removing pits, and mix with half as much, by measure, of white grapes, cut in halves and pitted. Arrange in individual dishes and cover with a thick layer of soft, shredded coconut. Do not add sugar.

The biscuits may be mixed with all but the milk or water, adding this when you are ready to bake them. For eight people, mix three cups of flour with six teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt. Rub in one-half cup shortening and set the mixture aside in a cool place. When ready to bake, add three-fourths cup milk or water to make soft dough, roll out to half an inch thickness and shape with a small cutter. Bake 10 minutes in a hot oven.

Mashed Cucumbers. Peel and cut cucumbers in large pieces, put in a soup-sieve with a few tablespoons of hot water, add the whole onion and bay leaf, cover and simmer until cucumbers are tender. Remove the onion and bay leaf, mash the cucumbers, season and add brown butter.

Maple Syrup for Flavoring. A teaspoonful of maple syrup, instead of sugar, added to whipped cream gives the cream a most delicious flavor.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

FOUR PLAYERS IN PARTY THAT ENTRAINS FOR SOUTHERN CITY

By James M. Gould

EN ROUTE TO WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 24.—Spring is not officially due for another month but for the baseball fan, that season already has arrived. Today the Browns—some of them—are on their way to the West Palm Beach training camp. A small squad departed from St. Louis yesterday afternoon and today will be joined en route by batmen from all sections of the country. This augmented platoon of pitchers and catchers is due to arrive in the camp tomorrow morning in time for an early breakfast.

Bill Killefer, last year coach for and this year successor to Dan Howley as manager of the Browns, is in West Palm Beach awaiting the arrival of his merry men. He will put them to work soon after this arrival, that training session being scheduled for 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Among Those Present Were— In the party which left the rather startling summer weather of St. Louis behind yesterday were Pitchers Chad Kinsley and "General" Alvin Crowder, Outfielder Ted Guile and Stanley Shanks, a young catcher who will help in the Southern League. Secretary Willis Johnson had charge of the party, which included also Trainer Tommy Brammel.

It is probable that the entire battery section of the team will be together tonight at Jacksonville, as the ways converge there for the last lap of the trip down the east coast.

In all, 17 men are due in uniform and on the field tomorrow. These are Pitchers Gray, Crowder, Orden, Elsbacher, Stewart, Kinsley, Coffman, Collins, Caldwell, Stely, Stiles, Ellis and Holshausen, Catchers Manion, Handling, Ferrell and young Shanks.

A Fight at Third Base. The so-called "regulars" of the infield and outfield are expected ready for action a week from today. There are several spots competition for which might be said to be "open." Third base is one of them and at that position the Browns have a good pitching staff, but no manager ever has been known to refuse help in this department. Several of the Browns recruits, according to their records, have a chance to remain among those present for a while.

Training Camp Sidelights

By the Associated Press. FASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 24.—Topsy skipping will play an important part in the early spring training of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Manager Jewel E. Egan let it be known today. This stunt, as well as calisthenics, some running and light throwing, marked today's workout. There will be golf, for those who like it, but not until after the day's practice sessions have been concluded.

White Sox Now Have Park. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 24.—The ambitious Chicago White Sox today went into the second week of training with a field all to themselves for the first time since they arrived. Manager Donie Bush ordered his squad of players and coaches to leave their quarters at the Hotel Duval Park, which was obtained when the field at St. Mary's University proved unsuitable. He also shifted the starting hour to 11 a. m. from 1 p. m., which was necessary while the Sox shared the San Antonio Texas League park with the New York Giants.

Marshall a Spring Sensation. By the Associated Press. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 24.—The newest sensation of the New York Giants' spring training squad is blonde Eddie Marshall, second baseman obtained from Bridgeport of the Eastern League. "Just seems as if I can't slam a ball past him into the outfield," said Dave Bancroft, assistant manager. "He gets in front of every ball and those who are impossible to grab he slips down and burns them over to first in time to make the out. If he can only hit—"

Paulsen, according to club officials, seeks a salary of about $12,000, a big price even for first-rate experienced pitchers. The only Dodger pitcher who will get more than that is Dazzy Vance, with his $25,000 contract. William Watson, "Clark" who with the ailing Jim Elliott, forms the left-handed department of the pitching staff, is getting only $10,000 a year. It Paulsen doesn't modify his demands quickly the club plans to send him back to Buffalo.

Mack Believes Athletics Strong Enough to Repeat Pennant Victory

Looks for Mahaffey, Formerly of Portland, to Add to Club's Pitching Efficiency.

This is the first of a series of sixteen articles written for the Post-Dispatch by the managers of the respective major league teams. The remaining articles will be published daily until completed. In this number Cornelius McGillicuddy tells why the world champions should repeat.

By Connie Mack

Manager Philadelphia Athletics. ONE manager who is not looking for any soft going in the American League pennant race the coming season is myself. While we won the pennant and world series last year, I have known and gained experience that in baseball nothing can be taken for granted. I can remember well, after the Athletics won pennants in 1910 and 1911, that at the start of the 1912 season, for the first and only time in my life, I felt that we were sure to win. During my long career in the majors I have piloted a number of truly great teams, but I am frank to say that I still regard the team that started the season of 1912 as the greatest I ever had.

In 1912 the team was in the making. We won the pennant and then took the world series by beating the supposedly invincible Cubs rather handily. The club repeated in 1911 by winning another pennant and then defeating the New York Giants for the world title. Those two years had so developed the club that I felt the team I would manage in 1912 would be by far the greatest aggregation that ever represented Philadelphia and almost a cinch to win the pennant.

"Form" Went Astray. Instead of the Athletics, the Boston Red Sox won the 1912

Joe Schultz, who is to manage Houston of the Texas League the coming season, is scheduled to depart today, arriving in Houston about Feb. 28, to take over the management of the Buffs.

Walter Rehg, veteran outfielder who was given his unconditional release by Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League late last season, has been taken on again by the same club for 1936.

Clarence Hoffman, the Belleville boy who played the outfield for the White Sox last season and who recently was sent to Indianapolis of the American Association in a player deal, was secured last night from Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League, and was reported to have cost Comiskey's cash drawer $30,000. He came to the White Sox highly touted, but was out with sickness and injuries a good bit of the year. However, he has recovered and is expected to be a big shot in the Hoosiers' outfield the coming year. He is out on option.

Irvin Gielow, semipro infielder, has signed with Des Moines of the Western League for a trial.

Glenn Barthlemess, semipro pitcher, has been signed by Bloomington of the Three-I League for a trial. He was recommended to the club by Ervin "Dutch" Kremer, who played short for Bloomington last season, but who will play with York of the New York-Pennsylvania League the coming campaign.

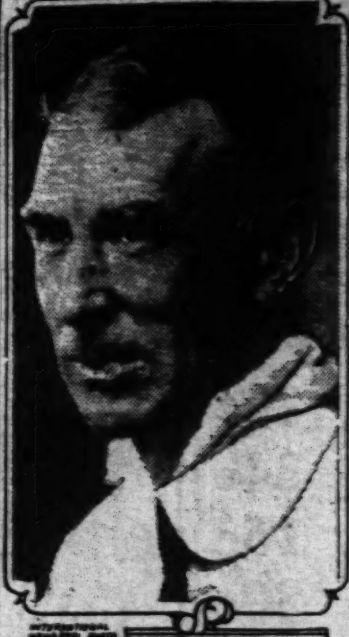

Johnny Tobin, the veteran outfielder, had a bid in for the job as pilot of the Cedar Rapids club of the Mississippi Valley League, but lost out when Pat Sperry, last year second baseman of the Dubuque club, was handed the job.

Cliff Brady, who managed and played second base for Peoria of the Three-I League last season, and who had been angling for the job as manager of Bloomington of the Three-I League, lost out when Pat Harkins, last year's manager, decided to return again to lead the team.

Bob Coleman, owner and manager of the Evansville team of the Three-I League, has been making his home in the Indiana city, returned to East St. Louis, his former home, and while visiting there his mother, Mrs. Helen Coleman, died.

Clarence "Doc" Roper, new manager of Rock Island of the Mississippi Valley League, has announced that he is willing to take on any local lads who think they can make the grade in the Valley circuit.

Meris, Tex., was the first city to sign an agreement with Joe Mathas, to enter his proposed Lone Star League. A representative of the fans deposited $500 with Mathas, with a balance of $2500 to be paid by March 1. However, the fate of the new league may be determined at meeting of the moguls of the Texas League, sponsors of the Texas League, to be held next week. Wichita Falls has with-pennant and world series, defeating the New York Giants. The experience taught me a lesson. It made me realize that it is dangerous to ever believe you have a league stopped, no matter how much you glittered the season before.

I feel that the Athletics of last year by its decisive victory in the American League race, as well as the world series triumph, unquestionably won the right to be classed as a great team. On the showing we made last season it is only natural that the experts should expect us to repeat. On form we should, but once again, I repeat, you can't take anything for granted in baseball.

Thinks Pitching Staff Strong. A pennant winning ball club must have good pitching. We had good pitching last season. I am inclined to think that any manager in the two big leagues would be perfectly willing to trade his staff for mine. There is no better right-hander than Earnshaw. Grove and Walberg are outstanding among the left-handers. Hornsby and Quinn did great relief work.

Despite the fact that our pitching was good enough to win last season, I feel that we have added strength to this very important department. Mahaffey of Portland of the Coast League looks best. My scouts told me that he is ready to win in the majors. He also expects some help from Breckenridge, the Dartmouth collegian, who was with us all last season, but was used very little.

Expects Help From Schang.

While it is my intention to stand pat on my regulars, I do not fear injuries to them as I did last season, because we have far better reserves in case of accidents and a more powerful corps of pinch hitters. Wally Schang is being very helpful in pinch hitting roles and is still a high-class catcher, able to step in and deliver should anything happen to Cochran.

Our best looking prospects are Shortstop McNair, who led the Sally League in hitting last season and who joined us late last fall and did so well. Williams, a "hot" second baseman, who was a sacker from Little Rock, should help around the keystone sack.

My team is young and I have every confidence in my players, but I do not expect to say more than that. In closing, I feel competition will be much keener, as nearly all the rival teams have strengthened, particularly the Chicago White Sox.

Big Squad of Cardinals Will Depart Saturday. By W. J. McGowan. Preparations for the Cardinals' departure for their training camp at Bradenton, Fla., are in full swing at the office of the St. Louis Nationals this week. The party which is scheduled to leave Union Station Saturday afternoon is expected to be larger than any training camp in a number of years.

At present, seven regulars are slated to depart with Manager Gabby Street and Coach Clyde Wares while President Sam Breadon and Secretary Clarence Lloyd will also be in the party. In addition there will be three players of the Rochester club on the train.

Catchers Earl Smith, Mickey O'Neill and Earl Wilson, infielders Andy High and Charlie Gribble, outfielder Willie Rothger and pitcher Clarence Mitchell are the players who are to accompany Manager Street while the Rochester players are Pitcher Mac Brown, formerly of Iowa U., infielder Fred Meyers and Carter Burton Bruckman. Wilson and Gribble, who live in the east are driving west on car to St. Louis while Earl Smith is driving here from Hot Springs, Ark.

The party is due in Bradenton Monday morning. Lloyd received a wire from Dr. Harrison Weaver, club doctor from Bradenton today stating that the grounds are in readiness for work, that the stands are in good condition and some new ones are being erected.

Sammy Hale, Browns' third baseman is expected to arrive in St. Louis some time this week and proceed to the Browns' camp at West Palm Beach, Fla., Sunday.

The Comeback Who Didn't Come.

SEE our old friend Charley White, who once upon a time could fight.

Although he could count, Till Gabriel blew his famous horn. Discovered that he had been short. Of all his fighting sinew.

He found a guy at thirty-nine. Although he may be feeling fine. Will crack a bit when bending. He went out in the second round. And by his seconds it was found. His blows needed mending.

So ended Charley White's career. To whom it now is very clear. That Father Time had tricked. A fact he didn't realize. Until he found to his surprise. A younger lad had kicked him.

Until somebody knocks him cold. The athlete who is growing old. Of optimism savors. He never thinks he's getting old. But Time will take his gold. For all his former favors.

Too True. A man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still. It takes a wallop on the chin to let him know that he's all in.

It's easier for a camel to see a mile through the eye of a needle than it is for a habesha to see his finish through rose-colored glasses.

Yes, Bo! LITTLE Jack Horner will sit in his corner. Facing Parnell on Tuesday night: Whether he puts in his thumb and pulls out a plum. Will depend on his landing a right.

ATCHESON WINS FIRST A. U. HANDBALL MATCH

Sam Atcheson of Memphis, Tenn., co-holder of the National Y. M. C. A. handball doubles championship, defeated Mals Giesberg of Minneapolis, 21-9, 21-14, today in the first match played in the National A. U. handball tournament at the Young Men's Hebrew Association, Union boulevard and Earhart avenue.

Forty-six players were paired for the event, including men from many sections of the United States, among them Al Bannett of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, national singles champion, and Merritt Bates of Columbus, O., winner of the national "Y" tourney, concluded here last week.

St. Louis players fared well in the morning rounds, two of the four local men who competed surviving. They were L. K. Keen, and Mike Cunningham. Cunningham remained in the running without a contest, his scheduled opponent, Marshall Lehr, also of St. Louis, defaulting. Keenier defeated George McCarthy of Kansas City, 21-11 and 21-15.

Joe Powers of Los Angeles and Lester Gregg of Kansas City, both advancing at the expense of St. Louis players, defeated Louis Blocher 21-3 and 21-15, while Gregg defeated Milton Strauss, 21-3 and 21-15.

Bannet, who holds the national A. U. doubles title with Ward McMillan of the San Francisco Olympic Club, will have a new partner in the doubles competition in Woodman Paynter, also from the Olympic Club.

A. Trullo of New York, who filed his entry at the last minute by long distance telephone, failed to arrive by airplane to participate in the meet, and his match was postponed.

Three of the 13 St. Louisians entered in the tournament drew byes today. They were Milton Smith, Walter Kamman and Dr. Sam Rich. Champion Bannet also drew a bye for the first round.

Sam Atcheson, Memphis, defeated Nate Gumborg, Minneapolis, 21-9, 21-14. Joe Powers, Los Angeles, defeated Louis Blocher, St. Louis, 21-3, 21-14. L. K. Keenier, St. Louis, defeated George McCarthy, Detroit, 21-11, 21-15.

Lester Gregg, Kansas City, defeated Milton Strauss, St. Louis, 21-3, 21-15. Mike Cunningham, St. Louis, won by default from Marshall Lehr, St. Louis.

Merritt A. Bates, Columbus, O., defeated Simon Wolf, St. Louis, 21-3, 21-15. Robert Lawrence, St. Louis, defeated Ben Jacobs, Chicago, 21-15, 21-20.

Al Schaeffelfberger, Detroit, defeated Dr. William Sentella, Chicago, 21-4, 21-21, 21-14.

Billiken Quint Departs Tonight For Iowa Game. Coach Mike Nyikos and a squad of 12 players of the St. Louis University basketball team will depart tonight for their game with Iowa University, to be played tomorrow night at the Big Ten school's field house in Iowa City, Ia.

It will be the second meeting of the season between the two fives, St. Louis U. having won the first game played here last Tuesday night.

The men to make the trip are: Capt. Barney Oldfield, Ham Strong, Jack Plunkert and Lester Roberts, forwards; Lyle Drury, Frank Kennedy and Jim Shea, centers; Jack Joyce, Joe Lintzsch, Leslie Hunt, Ollie Anderson and Jack McFarland, guards.

Tomorrow night's game will be the last game for the Billikens before they enter the second round of the local winter season, when they will be stronger than the Washington U. Bears. Their record so far this season consists of 13 victories and five defeats, two of these setbacks coming at the hands of their local rivals.

If Coach Nyikos starts the lineup he has used in the last five games of Strong and Oldfield at the forwards, Drury at center and Lintzsch and Joyce at the guards, he will have five men in the lineup who will be closing their basketball careers this season. Each member of this quintet has starred as a regular since his sophomore year with the exception of Lintzsch, who gave place to Les Hunt when he graduated to sophomore ranks last year. Hunt missed several games this season following mid-year examinations and during that time Lintzsch played as a regular but since Hunt's return to the squad Lintzsch has played so well that he has been Coach Mike Nyikos' choice to start.

Ollie Anderson, another letterman for the past three years, will be another Billiken to graduate this June. Plunkert and Roberts, reserve forwards; Frank Kennedy, substitute center, and Les Hunt, have one more year of competition, while Shea and McFarland are sophomores.

The Billikens and Bear freshmen basketballs will meet in their annual game this year on March 11 at the St. Louis U. gym. A lot of interest has been taken in this game at the mid-city school, as the Billikens are undefeated so far this season.

A Left-Handed Staff

SLUGGERS who slug with the right hand will do plenty of walling when they meet the Cardinals next year, if Gabby Street's southpaw hurlers all come through.

Five men who flip with the left will be at Bradenton, on the Red Bird roster and four of them have shown more or less skill in deceiving big league batters. Sherdel and Mitchell are the veterans of the left-handed quintet, Bill Hallahan and Al Grabowski looked powerful last fall, and the fifth member is Jack Peter Fowler.

There also will be several southpaws from the minor league teams who are ambitious, but until they are drafted from the Reading club of the International League.

Great things were expected of the Cooks, a team of youngsters coached and managed by John Scully, and the kids didn't disappoint their friends. They all ended the game in the first extra period when Pat Reilly scored on a mixup following a penalty kick. But "King" Klingensmith fired the gun marking the conclusion of the period just as Reilly kicked and the score was not allowed. Furthermore, the Cooks were forced to play the last 14 minutes of the game with only 10 men. Referee Donovan having ordered a man off the field.

Considering the comparative youth and inexperience of Scully's boys, their game was surprisingly good. In the Kolster team were eight players who had the advantage of professional league experience. All the Kolster goals were scored by experienced players, Marvin Hart, Bonnie Hartigan and Tom Charnick. Kramer and Zimmerman counted for the Cooks, both of whom were beating a first-class goalkeeper, Mike Delaney.

Tommy Heidenry's goal in the early stages of the game gave the Kolsters an advantage over the Longos, but Jerry O'Shea tied the count, forcing extra periods, the first of which was scoreless. In the second overtime session, the Longos showed the effects of the fast pace, whereas the Kolsters held on tight. Gene Thumma finally popped through the winning goal after a nice passing movement.

KOLSTERS AND SCHENBERGS TO MEET IN MUNY SOCCER FINAL

The Kolsters of North St. Louis and the Schenbergs, champions of all South St. Louis, are the Muny Soccer League finalists as a result of their victories in the semi-finals at Fairground Park Sunday afternoon. About 6000 persons witnessed the games, both of which were tied at the conclusion of the regular 90 minutes of play, making extra periods necessary.

In the first extra period, the Kolsters came from behind to defeat their younger and smaller opponents, 2-1. The Schenbergs, on the other hand, scored in the second extra period, making the game a 2-2 tie. The Kolsters won by a 3-2 count and the Schenbergs by a 2-1 count.

LOSERS GAIN AN EARLY LEAD OF TWO GOALS, BUT SLOW UP LATER

MIAMI PROMOTERS FACE LOSS BUT ADHERE TO 5-YEAR FIGHT CAMPAIGN

OUTLOOK FOR A $250,000 GATE WHEN SCOTT AND SHARKEY BATTLE

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24.—Whether or not the Madison Square Garden millionaires experience a major operation in the region of the box office, in connection with the Sharkey-Scott fight show this Thursday night, they have not lost confidence in the future of this southern Florida center of sports activity and pleasure hunting.

Before departing tonight for New York, where he sails next Friday for South America on a business trip, William F. (Big Bill) Carey, the Garden's chief executive, made it clear he intended to stick to his five-year plan of promoting annual heavyweight shows in Miami, win or lose.

Carey feels that due to circumstances which, in part at least, were beyond the Garden's control, the Phil Scott-Jack Sharkey match was made an essential part of the heavyweights program, in spite of a lack of popular enthusiasm for it.

As he looks at it, the Garden is "taking it on the chin" in the interests of putting through the match as a "necessary evil," designed to help settle the heavyweights championship no later than the summer of 1930.

Meanwhile, the Garden directorate will consider itself fortunate to break even on this week's show or even to pocket a small loss. With the event only four days off, the actual cash on hand today was not in excess of $50,000. As much more was considered as the equivalent of cash, in the form of definite orders and reservations, but the total advance sale of around $162,000 compared unfavorably with the total gate of $407,000 for last winter's show.

Looks Like $250,000 Gate. The attitude now is that if the receipts pass $250,000 three rousing cheers will be given by all connected with the financial operation. On this basis, Sharkey's end would be around $60,000 and Scott's $30,000. Phil doesn't share equally with Jack until after the $200,000 mark is passed. Last year Sharkey received a flat $100,000 and Stribling something like $65,000.

As the combatants, all 10 of them, swung into the final stretch of tapering off work today, there was no substantial change in the prevailing opinion that Sharkey and Scott will be a draw, and probably knock the Englishman out in short order.

The approach of fistfights finds a sharp swing in favor of Victorio Campolo to beat Johnny Rizzo in what the boys expect to be a slam-bang semi final to the main event.

MISS ALITA DAVIS LOSES IN PHILIPPINE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

MANILA, Feb. 24.—Mrs. Felisa Ochoe, defending champion of the Philippine national tennis tournament, yesterday eliminated Miss Alita Davis, daughter of Governor-General Dwight F. Davis, by scores of 6-3, 6-2.

Miss Alita Davis took the first set from Petra Caraga, 6-2, when darkness halted the match. J. Sato, third ranking Japanese, won the men's singles championship, defeating R. Nunoi, fourth ranking Japanese, 6-4, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2.

WRANG Column

Another "Natural."

THE Coliseum boxing feature tomorrow, "Peewee" Kaiser against Lou Terry, is another "natural" in the jargon of fight promotion. Here are two boys who have done more to maintain interest in local boxing than all the scrappers now claiming St. Louis as their birthplace.

Both are good, game lads and each is noted for his punching ability. Their bid for first place in the local sport cannot fail to be bitterly fought.

The records of both men are sprinkled liberally with knockouts; and while each has suffered several defeats, in every case it took good men to turn the trick. Davey Abad, Chico Cisneros and Eddie Shea were the men to win from Kaiser, in the last 14 months; while Harry "Kid" Brown and Eddie Wolf "took" Terry.

Kaiser's opponents were a shade better class than Terry's; but the shade is immaterial. The men appear, therefore, evenly matched, with Terry having youth and two good hands with which to overcome Peewee's long experience.

Kaiser's Handicap. KAISSER's case is unusually interesting. Peewee began boxing when he was a mere stripling of 12 or 13 years. Tommy Brammell, now trainer for the Browns, developed Peewee and the little tyke of those days turned out to be one of the smartest and snappiest amateurs the city has seen for a long time. In addition to his cleverness, he had a knockout punch in his right hand with which he pounded his way to the amateur leadership of the city.

For a time after he turned professional it was figured that he was destined for high places. Jimmy Dunn, then manager of Johnny Kilbane, featherweight king of his day, sent for Kaiser and gave him the once over in Cleveland. That was in 1920.

Dunn and Kaiser failed to reach an agreement and Peewee then went on his own and did well until he developed an unexpected complex. He began holding and fighting foul. He was in so "bad" with the authorities at one time that he was "suspended for life"—a ruling that later was lifted.

Kaiser Snaps Out of It. IT appeared that Peewee was about to pass out of the picture. But he got next to himself in time and, for the past two years he has been giving crowds the best shows his entire repertoire, making clever and game battles against superior men, in several cases. None of the big guns was able to tuck him away with a good-night wallop.

Abad and Shea had too much class on Kaiser, for Peewee to beat them; but his losing battles against both pleased fans. Against that hard-hitting young corner, "Chico" Cisneros, Kaiser had the misfortune early in the bout to injure his right hand, already injured many times previously. Kaiser has a young door-knob on the back of his right hand, telling its own tale of shattered metacarpals.

With only one hand, Peewee's strategy against Cisneros brought him through safe after a stormy session.

A Real Handicap.

THAT hand is Peewee's cross. He has had to nurse it along and save it for a few special occasions when the opening was just right. Otherwise it might be injured again in the middle of a contest. As a result Peewee finds it harder to deceive his opponents, all of whom know his weakness in this respect.

It was this same weakness that kept Frankie Mason from being one of the truly great flyweights of all time. Frankie was a wonderful little battler; but, like Kaiser, his right punching weapon could only be fired a few times to the enemy's law. Often it buckled up and went dead for the night, just when it was most needed.

The writer saw Frankie Mason fight the Mighty Atom, Jimmie Wilde, when Jimmy was at his peak. Had Mason been able to use his right hand freely he might have won undying fame by stopping the British wonder. As it was he staggered Jimmy twice—the only times during the fight that he ventured to use his right hand.

Peewee has been fighting a long time, but instead of declining, he actually seems to have improved.

Terry has come along at a fast clip and has everything that Peewee has except length of experience.

If they do not put up a good fight the performances of the two men for the past year will have proved meaningless.

Bears to Oppose Tiger Quintet at Columbia Tonight

The Washington University basketball team is in Columbia today, where tonight they will endeavor to avenge the 23-30 defeat handed them by the Missouri U. quintet here early in the season.

The Bears have an excellent chance to turn the tables, they believe, if for no other reason than that the Tigers should be in a slight let-down after their great and unexpected victory over Kansas University last week in the Six game. However, a more important reason is that the Tiger team was weakened by their last contest. Harry Welsh, veteran forward, will be out of action with injuries, while Charles Ruhn, the other regular Tiger forward, is limping from a torn muscle. His span of action may be curtailed tonight.

Coach Don White took nine players on the trip. They are: Capt. "Moose" Meyer, Ted Sausage, Don Whitehouse, John Lichtenfeld, Ray Dunham, Bob Houghlin, Harvey Jablonaky, Bert Constance and Bert Springer.

Three Women Ball Club Owners. Mrs. A. H. Woodward is vice president of the Birmingham club. Miss Florence Killie is president of Milwaukee. Mrs. Jack Dunn owns the Baltimore club.

STEIN DEFEATS THOMA IN LAST SERIES MATCH

Otto Stein Jr., local bowling star, easily defeated Sykes Thoma of Peoria by a margin of 272 pins in the final 10-game block of their 60-game inter-city bowling contest on the Washington alleys last night, increasing his winning lead for the entire match to a total of 1,700 pins. Stein again thrilled a large gallery with a wonderful exhibition of tenpinning, clicking the wood for a total of 2223, while Thoma, handicapped by a sore finger, could score but 1354. Stein had four misses during the 10-game series, while Thoma had two, his only miss frames in the 20 games being rolled here.

Stein had a high single game of 259 pins in his ninth effort, while Thoma's best was 222 in the second.

At the conclusion of the final game, Judge Frank B. Grodski, president of the Greater St. Louis Bowling Association and official stakeholder, presented Stein with the $1000 purse, at the same time announcing that Stein will start a 60-game inter-city match with Joe Morris, sensational Detroit star, in March.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKET RACE ENDS SATURDAY

The City High School League basketball season will close Saturday night with a double-header on the Beaumont floor. In order for the leading Soldan team to win the title it must defeat Beaumont in the first game. The second contest will be between Roosevelt and Central.

If Beaumont upsets all advance calculations by winning from Soldan, the West Enders will drop into a tie with Cleveland, which has finished its season with a record of six victories in eight starts. Soldan has lost but one game in seven.

The Order of Finish?

If Soldan and Roosevelt win, the order of finish will be Soldan, Cleveland, Roosevelt, Beaumont and Central. Central broke into the winning column for the first time this season, when they walloped St. Charles last Thursday in an interleague game.

Despite the reversal of form shown by the Soldan team when it lost to Cleveland last week, Coach

Harry White contemplates no change in the five of Barry Foster and Keith Walker, forwards; Dave Cook, center and Ben Rouse and Bill Jones, guards.

Opposed to this combination will be Arthur Gerv and Bob Kalbitz, forwards; Ray Toberman, center, and Bernard Walsh and Campbell Elliott, guards. The poor showing made by Arthur McLeod against that Coach Raymond C. Lewis will bench the Beaumont guard.

The Saddest of Words, Etc.

If Roosevelt had begun the campaign in the manner which has caused the downfall of two successful league members, the Rough Riders would be challenging the leaders instead of being tied for third place. The individual improvement of Ward Parker, forward, is responsible for much of the Rough Riders' success.

Beaumont will travel to Litchfield, Ill., for a practice game Tuesday afternoon.

THE MARRY-GO-ROUND

By Helen Rowland

"Here's a psychologist, who says that no man can be happy unless he is trying to make some woman happy," said Mrs. Divot, laying down her newspaper.

"That," said Mrs. Green emphatically, "explains EVERYTHING! From the bored, disgruntled look on the average bachelor's face to the failure of companionate marriage!"

"It explains why widowers, no matter how bereaved, nearly always hasten to remarry; and why gentlemen prefer clinging, little molluscs to nice, strong, efficient girls who can check their own trunks, carry their own luggage and pay their own cab-fare."

"Above all, it explains why modern men and women are so dissatisfied and restless. That's how cute old Dame Nature FIXED things—and we're all trying to prove that we're smarter than she is!"

"Well, don't blame ME!" said Mrs. Divot. "I've always known that no woman could be happy unless she was trying to make some MAN happy. That's why I gave up my job to become the guardian of Bill's socks and digestion. But a man is an awful responsibility!"

"Exactly," agreed Mrs. Green. "And that's what makes you happy. No job, no work, no art, no achievement can give you the same glow of joy as does the feeling that you are 'necessary' to somebody. Just 'helping humanity,' or making the world better, or having a career doesn't take the place of it, at all."

"A man is always happiest when he is playing Santa Claus to some woman, giving her things, bringing her flowers, doing something to please and surprise her. And a weak little thing who 'needs' him gives him more sense of responsibility, which satisfies his ego, inflates his vanity and reduces his inferiority complex."

"More women have tied men to them, by laying their heads and their burdens on the shoulders of the so-called stronger sex, than by putting their own shoulders to the wheel and making the path to marriage easy."

"But," protested Mrs. Divot, "every young man's Big Idea, today, seems to be to dodge marriage and avoid the responsibility of supporting ANY woman. And every modern girl's Big Idea seems to be to find a job and escape the responsibility of keeping house for a man."

"And that," declared Mrs. Green triumphantly, "is why so many marriages go haywire. When you dodge the 'responsibilities' of marriage, you are cheating yourself out of your own chance of happiness and going against Nature. And the first thing you know, you are all full of inhibitions and complexes, that only a psychoanalyst can unravel."

"Yes," agreed Mrs. Divot, with a faint sigh. "A woman—even a golf-widow—is always happiest when she is mothering some man. It satisfies! But that was a mean trick of Mother Nature to play on a girl who hates cooking, and on a man who hates to go home nights!"

Psittacosis.

MAN'S fear of unknown disease is illustrated by interest aroused by reports of cases of so-called parrot's fever.

This disease, known in scientific parlance as psittacosis (formed from the Latin term psittacus, meaning parrot), is little known here. There are on record a few isolated cases. In 1923 there was an epidemic of psittacosis in Paris, the disease affecting a relatively large number of persons.

At the time of the Paris epidemic it was studied by Nocard, who claimed to have singled out a germ and to have established its causative relation to the disease. This claim has not been entirely substantiated, and hence parrot's fever is still classified among the diseases of unknown origin.

In parrots the disease principally affects the intestines, kidneys, liver and spleen, but practically never the lungs. In man, however, it is the lungs that are most commonly affected, the disease resembling pneumonia, with a profound infection of the entire body.

This difference in the manner in which parrot and man is affected by the disease has led some scientists to postulate the theory that the germ which causes true psittacosis in the bird merely acts to lay man open to a serious type of pneumonia.

While the disease has a high mortality rate, there is no danger of it becoming extensively epidemic. It may be guarded against by avoiding contact with parrots, especially apparently sick birds. Parrots kept in isolation are said by ornithologists to be perfectly safe. The disease does not arise spontaneously.

Cellar Suggestions

While waiting for the furnace fire to burn up, do not go upstairs and forget all about it. This is a good time to tidy up the cellar, putting each article in its place, keeping the woodpile neat and discarding everything that is useless.

Large hooks and nails in the walls are handy for hanging articles instead of having them take up space on the floor.

Whitewash unplastered walls—it makes the cellar lighter and it acts as a good germicide.

Do not keep old or paint-soaked rags or excelsior in the cellar, and dispose of broken articles without delay.

An electric light bulb with a wire protector and a long extension cord should hang on a hook in every cellar.

A small watering can kept near the furnace will be very handy for sprinkling the ashes before removing them from the ash pit; this will keep down the dust.

A Tester.

When frying fish, first put a small piece of crust of bread into the frying fat. This will prevent the fat from spluttering and will show by its color when the fat is the proper temperature to receive the fish.

CHAPTER 31.

LEWIS jumped through the ropes and grabbed Coke from behind. "Never mind, Coke," he said. "It was all a frame-up to make you look cheap."

Regan turned on his heel and climbed out of the ring. A fight started on the edge of the crowd and a small riot was averted by the quick thinking of Kid Halloran, who shouted:

"Police! Police!"

Coke climbed through the ropes and, glaring at the crowd, went to his dressing-room, followed by Lewis. Before he got his clothes on O'Keefe came in.

"You think I was trying to make you up, huh?" he said. "I just wanted to work out with you, that's all."

"All right," said Coke. "But the next time you work out with me, I'll be in the Coliseum and you'll find out how a left hook feels with a five ounce glove."

"You gonna give me a match, champ?" cried O'Keefe.

"Soon as you get a reputation," said Coke. "Now beat it."

O'Keefe stood shifting.

"What's the use of using sore, champ?" he said. "I'm for you."

"Yeah," said Coke. "Let's shake hands," said O'Keefe.

Coke held out his hand but shook hands limply. O'Keefe looked at him for a moment, then went out.

"You're foolish if you think this was an accident, Mason," said Lewis. "It was just one of Regan's smart tricks."

"I don't know," said Coke. "As soon as he got dressed, he and Lewis went out into the gymnasium. One of the pugs took Coke by the arm."

"It takes you to do it, champ," he said.

REGAN was standing at the door talking to Coon and Halloran. When Coon saw Lewis, he said good-bye to Halloran hastily and went out.

"George," Coke called. "Regan came over and glanced at Lewis, who was standing with Coke."

"Coke," said Regan, "let me give you a straight tip. Lay off these dressed up theatrical boys. They're fixing to take you."

"What are you sore about, Regan?"

"Never mind," said Coke, cutting in. "Listen, George, did you try to frame me? If you did, all I can say is that you're as rotten a friend as you are a manager."

"Well," said Regan, "your name's on the dotted line and you're working for me. Get the idea?"

"Sure," said Coke.

"All right," said Regan. "You get funny with me and I'll tie you up so you won't fight for a good long while."

"What did I tell you?" Lewis put in.

"You better keep out of this, you damn crook," said Regan. "I might tell some funny stories about you."

"I been expecting you to, said

Lewis; "but I think Coke knows just about how much dependence to put on what you say."

"Wait a minute," said Coke. "I'm gonna do the talking, George, if you try to tie me up. Ill retire and then where'll you be. I got plenty of money. If I never fight again, I won't die in the poor house."

Regan stared at Coke, then walked away.

BOUT 8 o'clock one night Coke went up to Regan's room unannounced and knocked at the door. Regan let him in, but said nothing. Coke took off his overcoat and picked himself out a chair; then he took out his cigar case.

"Cigar, George?"

"Yeah, thanks," said Regan, selecting one and sitting opposite Coke.

"Well, George," said Coke, "how's things?"

"All right," said Regan. "Where you been keeping yourself?"

"I been kind of sticking around since the wife went back on the stage," said Coke. "I'm going down to the gymnasium tomorrow."

"You better," said Regan, "and get some of that belly off."

"Yeah," said Coke. "I bet you put on 15 pounds."

"Yeah, I wear a 16 1/2 collar now."

"Horse collar," said Regan; "and with a 14."

"Say," said Coke, "why don't you never look me up no more..."

"I don't like your gang," said Regan, "and you're on the subject, I want to have a little talk with you."

"That's what I came down for, George."

"Yeah," said Regan. "Well, here's the way it is, Coke. I'll be frank with you. It don't look to me like we're ever gonna get along again."

"Aw, hell," said Coke, laughing. "All right," said Regan. "But a guy can't work for two bosses. The misus has got you roped and hogtied, and now here's me to me no more. Now here's the thing: Either I'm your manager or I'm not. As it is, I'm not. I'm just a kind of junior partner that's in the way. Get the idea? You never ask me about nothing. You never say while we're on the subject, I want to have a little talk with you."

"What do you mean, her prompter?" Coke demanded.

"I mean Lewis," said Regan, "and a director never lived."

"Now wait, George," said Coke. "Lewis is a good friend of mine. You think he's a crook, but I don't. So let it go at that."

"They sure got you hooked," said Regan, meditatively.

Coke sighed and sat looking at the ash on his cigar.

"Yeah," said Regan. "Just like I said. It's hopeless."

"Hell," said Coke, "no hear you talk you'd think I didn't have good sense."

"I wouldn't go that far," said Regan.

Coke got up and stood looking out the window. Regan leaned back in his chair and stared at the ceiling.

"Coke," said Regan, "Cahill's ready to fight O'Keefe."

"Yeah."

"Yeah. And I'm going to bet two grand on O'Keefe."

"Kiss that good-bye," said Coke. "But I'll let jab him to death."

"Maybe," said Regan, "but you ain't seen the Rattler lately. He's a hundred per cent better than when he fought Joe Savella."

"He'll have to be, unless Cahill takes it easy with him."

REGAN laughed.

"The only thing that worries me about the Rattler," he said, "is his weight. He'll be a heavy some day, but I want him to make his mark in the middleweight division before he takes on weight."

"Listen, George," said Coke, "a lot of people think that if you paid more attention to me and less to O'Keefe, you'd be a lot better off. Tain't every guy that gets to manage a champion."

"Well," said Regan, "I'll admit I've got more breaks than a guy is entitled to. Because if anything happens to my champion, I got two more boys that'll both make a bid for it."

"What do you mean?"

"Well," said Regan, "with you out of the way, who do you think can lick O'Keefe? Nobody, that's the answer. All right, that's one. Now what do you suppose would happen if Willy Strapp'd get big-hearted and give Speed a bout? Speed'd lick him. So you see, Coke, I'm fixed."

"Meaning," said Coke, "that you can get along without me, I guess?"

"No, George," said Coke. "You don't have to. The misus likes that kind of stuff, you know, dressing up. But I don't see I just do it to please her. Look, George; all the other guys are gonna wear dress suits, but you don't need to, and I won't."

"I'm not much on parties."

"Well," said Regan, "I'll go. That's good. Glad to hear it. He cried; then he looked at his watch. 'Say, George, are you going any place tonight?'"

"No," said Regan. "Why?"

"Let's get a taxi and go down and see the misus," said Coke. "You ain't seen her in the show yet, have you?"

"No."

"All right," said Coke; "come on. We step on it, we'll just get there in time to see her."

"It's all right with me," said Regan.

"SELF-CONFIDENCE starts Behind the Scenes"

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Answering
ST. LOUIS
Girl's Letter

"HOW can I be popular?" ... Again and again girls ask me that question. For instance, read this from Sally M's letter:

"I am a young girl, considered beautiful, but I am always shy at a party. Other girls are prettier are always being invited out, while I am overlooked..."

Perhaps I can help you, Sally, because the mysterious power to charm lies within yourself. Men are like mirrors. They reflect a girl's own conception of herself. If she is poised, self-confident, sure of her charm, they hover round like bees around summer flowers.

Clothes are Important

Clothes are very important in giving a girl this happy self-confidence. If everything she wears is Dainty and COLORFUL, a girl feels charming and therefore she is charming.

Begin behind the scenes, Sally, with your lingerie, stockings, all your intimate things. When these are dainty, lace-trimmed, colorful, they make you feel very feminine, very charming.

With this self-confidence you go out ready to conquer the world, and you do.

If it's Safe in Water
It's Safe in LUX!

The Sunday Post-Dispatch
Has the Only Color-Roto Magazine in St. Louis.

Happy self-confidence of charm is within your grasp, through a simple secret

But some girls say they cannot afford to wear lovely underthings every day. Frequent washing takes some of the color and charm out of the garment.

This is very foolish, for if a girl but use that invaluable product, LUX, her dearest things will stay as alluring as new, so long that the most modest budget can well afford them. This product is especially made to keep colors and textures as charming as new. Anything safe in plain water alone is just as safe in LUX.

AT men make better husbands than this ones, according to the decision which ended a recent Paris debate.

The clinching argument for victor was that fat men are easy-going and good-natured—that they don't "talk back" to their wives.

Thus causing marital discord and you will always notice that fat men are always happy.

Are of good humor, jovial and filled with the joy of living. Declared M. Georges Ploch, noted orator and critic—and we wonder how much he weighs?

Just the same, and taking back none of the column's past remarks about the disadvantages of overweight for women—

We decided, after reading of the superiority of plump Parisian husbands,

That there are advantages of avoirdupois, within reason, even for American wives—

That, in short, corpulence has its compensations

For both sexes, especially when asked in matrimony and when a mouthful of his roast duckling and creamed cauliflower—

Even if she consents to cook and serve it.

When she sits opposite, self-denyingly nibbling lamb chops and pineapple!

At luncheons, every woman gets utterly fed up—even if dieting herself—

When she has to listen to the descriptions of ad nauseam ad infinitum, of her best friends' diets—

And imagine how tiresome the talk must be

For the husband who has to hear it EVERY day and night!

Must admit that most well-rounded wives of our acquaintance are sunny and sweet-natured and generous and jolly.

Will laugh as ample as their laps, and with dispositions as smooth as their soft pink-and-white cheeks.

Rich women know not nervous irritation or wrinkles. They must be easy to live with—

Even if their silhouettes are not always easy to look at.

Moreover, the pleasantly plump lady is often a wonderful cook—

That's how she got that way—

Preparing—and, of course, tasting and enjoying—candied sweet potatoes, chocolate cake, hot rolls, chicken Maryland, etc.

And we, for once, are perfectly certain that, if the average husband had to choose Between a slyph-like spouse and one who knows her cookbook, he'd vote for the flesh-pot and the fleshy authority on 'em.

Finally, the man whose wife is comfortably curved never has to hear any caustic comments

On his own disappearing waistband.

Or his appearing corpulence—and how.

He is allowed to "put on weight" in peace.

Instead of being nagged to eat less lunch and take more exercise.

We do insist on keeping our own weight so near normal

That we don't have to wear "stylish stouts," or dread hot weather, and can move quickly and easily.

Nevertheless, we have to admit that corpulence has compensations of its own—

Especially conjugal compensations! (Copyright, 1930.)

Your Children's Friends

ELIZABETH ANN is attractive as well as talented, so she has become very popular in the social affairs of high school. She gradually drifted into the gayest set and became a worrisome problem to her mother, but, being endowed with good sense, this woman did not lay down the law to her daughter nor make her home life unpleasant by unwise references to her companions.

She urged her unsuspecting girls to bring her friends to the house. She arranged entertainments for them, they danced and sang and she gave them delightful suppers, so all the young people became quite free and easy in her presence and her home became a favorite rendezvous for "the gang."

She often discussed the different boys and girls with Elizabeth Ann, their behavior and character in particular. This woman had a way of drawing out group folks and she showed this set up in their worse light, especially the one lad who was too attentive to Elizabeth Ann.

In an unbelievably short time the daughter remarked, "Somehow the more I see of the 'gang' the less I like them, and isn't Bud horrible?" And I always thought he was a dandy. I don't see what has made them change so."

That was a year ago and now Elizabeth Ann travels in an entirely different set and this was accomplished without any unpleasant discussions or any sharp remarks about picking out decent companions.

And so this wise mother continues to weed her daughter's garden of friendships without Elizabeth Ann being at all aware of it.

THE STORY OF

JEAN NASH

"BEST DRESSED WOMAN
IN THE WORLD"

Costumes Worth a Small Fortune Worn Single Time

Mrs. Nash in a simple—but assuredly expensive—little Paris hat.

CHAPTER SIX.
THE relations of Capt. Nash and his clothes-loving wife rapidly went from bad to worse. Intoxicated by the attention and flattery she had received because of the unusual costumes she had worn at two very fashionable balls, she felt that she now had a reputation for style which must be maintained. Psychologists, of course, might be inclined to explain her urge to self-display as the compulsion of an exhibitionist, but Jean herself would hardly be apt to take offense at that interpretation, for she has practically said as much in her own words.

"I realized some time ago," she recently observed, "that I was not now a beautiful woman, but that by wearing the right clothes I could more than make up for what nature had denied me in beauty. And naturally, being a woman, I wanted to be attractive and admired."

It was this desire to be widely admired and to live up to her growing reputation as a stunning dresser that caused her to make frequent trips from London to Paris, where she began to run up staggering bills at the most exclusive dressmaking establishments.

She had already dissipated what was left of her own inheritance buying clothes, and Capt. Nash had spent the larger part of his in paying her debts, but still there was no end to the buying.

The fever to dress magnificently regardless of consequences was now in her blood, and it was a fever from which she made no effort to become free, but, on the contrary, it became with her a source of pride and deep satisfaction.

"Clothes with me are a passion, an art, a part of my inmost being," she declared in an interview five years ago. "I love not only to wear them, but to gaze at them, to handle them, to revel in their color and texture, even to see them on other women. It is a joy to me to order them, to try them on, to see them delivered. I find it a pleasure to hang them up and to take them out. I never become weary when I am handling clothes."

ORDER 120 costumes a year from the most famous dressmakers of Paris. The price of the finest creations now ranges from $800 to $1000 apiece, so that I easily spend $100,000 a year on dresses, without counting wraps, sports clothes and other incidental necessities. I order about 30 times a year and about four gowns at a time. On an average I try them on four times so that there is scarcely a day when I am in Paris when I do not have a fitting. I wear my clothes on an average three or four times. It would be impossible to wear them much oftener than that and preserve my reputation. Sometimes when a creation is especially beautiful, like my Chinese costume embroidered with seed pearls, I may wear it as often as six times. If it does not come up to my standard of perfection, if it has the slightest finger mark or tear in it, that is absolutely the last of it as far as I am concerned. Every gown is, of course, especially designed for me and bears some individual name like "Sweet Delirium" or other pretty title. As I am the best customer in Paris, I receive new creations two or three weeks ahead of other women.

"I find that selecting hats is the most difficult part of dressing. I buy about 200 a year and don't wear 50 of them. Wraps and fur coats in a large variety are a necessity to the luxurious woman. I have 10 fur coats, including a wonderful $45,000 sable. I also have a beautiful chinchilla coat going to Paris on business and asked his wife to see him off at the station. This she did; and that evening she went out with an absolutely young American, internationally famous as a polo player. Thinking her husband on the way to Paris, she spent the night at a party and returned in the early morning accompanied by her friend. She was bidden to leave her husband when Capt. Nash stepped from behind a nearby tree. He was all for slaughtering the young man, and the disturbance was so great that Mrs. Nash herself had to call the police to keep her husband from committing violence.

THIS was followed by another episode, which immediately preceded their separation. While supposedly visiting at the country house of an English lady, Mrs. Nash had instead gone to Cambridge, where her American admirer was attending university. She was invited to his rooms in Cambridge, and there late one night they were surprised by the solemn proctors of the university, who escorted her from the premises and fined her student-friend. The affair created a great stir at Cambridge. Mrs. Nash was merely amused by it, but Capt. Nash was furious. There were rumblings of a threatened divorce and Mrs. Nash packed her trunks and went off to the Riviera for a holiday, stopping off first in Paris to replenish her wardrobe.

ALTHOUGH Capt. Nash thought he had more than sufficient grounds on which to base an action for divorce, he delayed bringing suit for many months although his intention to do so was known to his wife. But when, in the spring of 1923, Paris dressmakers presented him with a bill of $20,000 for wearing apparel, much of which his wife had bought since their separation, he decided that the quicker he got it over with the better.

The case was called for trial in London in the latter part of March, 1923. Mrs. Nash happened to be in Paris at the time and she let it be known that her failure to be present to defend herself at the trial was caused by illness which made a voyage across the Channel quite impossible.

The events of that night when Capt. Nash was supposed to have gone to Paris were rife into the record. It was further revealed that Capt. Nash had spent something like $100,000 in paying off her debts for clothes. Nash also testified that in the week of Jan. 13, 1921, Jean had spent every night and that shortly thereafter he found several letters which had been written to his wife by George Monkland, who was named as one of the co-respondents.

Next, Germaine Choleat, a French girl, formerly employed as Mrs. Nash's personal maid, took the stand. She had been with her mistress on visits to Cannes, Monte Carlo, Deauville and other places. She testified for the husband.

Needless to say, the testimony of Capt. Nash, the detectives he had hired and of the erstwhile lady's maid was more than sufficient unto his needs, and Mrs. Nash quickly found herself divorced. The divorce, of course, caused something of a sensation. But a still greater sensation came when the Paris dressmakers soon thereafter brought suit for the unpaid $20,000 against Capt. Nash. It was this case that brought to public knowledge the exact and amazing details of Mrs. Nash's astounding expenditures for clothes, and it was this case that established her as the world's best-dressed woman and won for her a learned Judge's opinion that she was also "the most extravagant woman in Europe."

PRIDE myself on my stockings, which are a vital part of a woman's underwear. I have 200 pairs of silk stockings made for me especially by the most celebrated looms in France from silk produced by silk-worms hatched by a special process in China. All my stockings are of one color, flesh. Some cost me as much as $50 a pair. Fine handkerchiefs are also one of my great delights, and I often pay $50 for one. They are made of the finest sheer linen, and I have my monogram embroidered on them. I never have less than six dozen of these super-fine handkerchiefs.

The fact that the above statements by Mrs. Nash were in no way exaggerations was definitely established at the proceedings in the English law courts which were to end her relations with Capt. Nash. And they also show why none save an extremely wealthy one could marry Jean Nash and meet her extravagant tastes without soon finding himself in desperate straits. Capt. Nash was not that wealthy. Their quarrels over her extravagances led to their estrangement, and that in turn led to Mrs. Nash's acceptance of other men as escorts to public places, for there would have been little point in buying rare costumes if she couldn't show them publicly.

MATTERS between Capt. Nash and his sartorial lady finally came to the breaking point. One day he announced that he was cleared up while you sleep

When your mirror shows you a skin that is marked with pimples or blemishes, eruptions, blackheads, or large pores... don't gamble on relief... Tonight before retiring simply anoint the infected areas with Rowley Men's Sulphur.

While you sleep this safe ointment, the color of the skin, clears up blemishes and soon will help give you skin soft, velvety smooth and beautiful.

Results even in stubborn cases are so satisfactory because Rowley Men's Sulphur contains 3 precious ingredients... Sulphur, clears and cleanses skin... Phenol, reduces surface infection and purifies skin... Menthol soothes and heals tender, irritated tissue. For skin troubles, itching, eczema, the prescription is Rowley Men's Sulphur.

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as its taste. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand.

A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of unpleasant breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

CHILDREN NEED FATHERS, TOO

By Irma Morris

A LITTLE one came crying to her mother. "That man who sits on the porch on Sundays spanked me." "That man" was her father!

Although this may sound like a joke, in many families it is stark reality. And even where contacts between fathers and children are more frequent, aren't there innumerable fathers who feel that they have fulfilled all obligations when they have supplied a livelihood for their families? But have they? Is there not something they can offer much more precious than money? Can they not be a vital influence in their children's lives, instead of being mere figureheads?

In many homes, busy men might have to do much planning and sacrificing in order to find time for a real comradeship with their children. But I feel confident these fathers would be amply repaid for any sacrifice, not only by present satisfaction, but by delightful friendships with their youngsters that would carry through the years.

Better far to think of a father as merely a bread winner, however, than to think of him as a "super policeman." "I'll tell father if you do that," is a constant threat in many households. And when father comes home from his work, very weary, he often has to listen to a long recital of the children's doings and meter out praise or censure. Perhaps mother has "promised" her young one that "father" will spank her when he comes home." In this case father will have to fill the role of "executioner" as well. This is most unfair to father! And mother loses out, also. What child can respect an adult who is too weak to handle her own problems, who must turn to some one else to adjust them for her?

Fathers, however, can be a great help to mothers in the discipline of their children. Being away from the young ones more than mothers, they consequently have a greater perspective and are able to evaluate happenings more impersonally. Therefore, their advice in regard to the children's faults and foibles, is often most helpful. All such consultations, however, should be held in private. It is most unwise to argue about the young ones' misdemeanors in their presence. Most fathers love their little ones devotedly and are willing to give their lives for them. This, however, they are rarely called upon to do. But as soon as fathers realize that their children need companionship, understanding and sympathy from their fathers as well as their mothers, I feel confident they will make heroic efforts to meet this obligation.

WALL STREET STOCKS TURN UPWARD LATE WHEN WHEAT HAS RALLY

Close Is Irregular After Erratic Movements in Which Securities Closely Parallel Grain Trend.

Special Strength Shown by a Varied Assortment of Issues — U. S. Steel Closes Lower.

The Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The stock market closed irregular today after a series of erratic price movements in which securities closely paralleled the fluctuations in wheat futures which showed small net gains after having broken to new low levels for the season.

Trading in stocks was only moderately heavy in volume, with special strength shown by a varied assortment of public utilities, motors, amusements and specialties. Steels were rather backward all day, and most of the leading rails closed lower.

U. S. Steel Closes Lower.
U. S. Steel common closed 3/4 over at 17 3/4 after having sold at 17 1/2. Dow Jones reported that there has been no change in the production of the U. S. Steel Corporation, which, it says, has been maintained during the past week at 85 to 86 per cent of capacity, but that independents are operating at around 75 per cent of capacity as against 77 it reported a week ago. The decline being due largely to curtailed operations by the smaller units.

Packard Motors, which is expected to make an important announcement regarding its new diesel airplane engine in the near future, was heavily bought all day, rising 1 1/2 points higher at 19 1/2. Allied Aircraft, which recently announced the receipt of a large order from the Peruvian Government, closed 2 points higher.

Revival of activity in Warner Bros. Pictures, which showed a net gain of 1 1/2 at 42, was attributed to buying for the account of the Mackay Intergas. Electric Power & Light, which has been reported to be under accumulation by the Electric Bond & Share Interests, rose up more than 4 points. General Electric and Westinghouse also closed with moderate net gains.

Allied Chemicals lost 3 1/2 points and American Cyanamid, which is a 1/2. Simmons showed net loss of 1/2 at 64 1/2 after having touched a new low level for the year at 62 1/2. Willard Co., Consolidated Gas and New York Central were among the many issues to lose 2 points or more. Atchafalaya sold down 6 points.

Wheat Rallies After Break.
The break in wheat carried the March option to 95 1/2 cents a bushel and the May contract to 100 1/2, but they rallied to 101 1/2 and 101 1/2, respectively, to close with small net gains. Corn also moved higher after an early period of weakness. Cotton closed with a net gain of about 1/2 a bale after having broken to new low levels for the season.

Foreign exchanges were firm, the Italian lira touching a new high record for the year. Sterling cash held steady at 44.56 1/2.

The money market was quiet. Call money held steady at 4 1/2 per cent all day. There were no changes in time money or bankers' acceptance rates.

The weekly condition statement of Federal Reserve member banks showed a further decrease in loans and securities, but they were still $215,000,000 above the total on the corresponding date last year.

The Boston & Maine Railroad resumed dividends on the common stock at the rate of $4 a year for the first time since 1912. Remington-Rand directors authorized their first payment on the common since October, 1927, and an initial dividend was declared on October 1, 1927, and the Texas Corporation and Helmer Bros. reported larger income for 1935 than in the preceding year, although the per share earnings in each case were smaller because of the large capitalization.
